Enforcement Procedures Hit . . .

Open Housing Faces Trouble

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The statewide open housing bill, whose major provisions have escaped change by the slender thread of a single vote three times this week, banged into serious trouble on the floor of the Legislature Wednesday.

The bill, LB718, was held at the first stage of floor debate for reconsideration of an amendment which would strip the measure of its present administration and enforcement procedures.

That amendment, offered by Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, failed originally on a dramatic 23-24 vote after an hour of tense and increasingly bitter deliberation.

Reconsider

Further discussion prompted Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff to ask lawmakers to reconsider their action on the proposal.

Carpenter's motion carried on a 27-20 vote, and LB718 was then pocketed for reconsideration of the Batchelder amendment on Thursday.

Opponents of the amendment argued that it would render the bill inoperative, but Batchelder said aggrieved citizens would still have access to the courts if they believed they had been subjected to discrimination in the sale or rental of housing.

'Loose As A Goose'

Carpenter said he asked reconsideration of the earlier vote because later discussion convinced him that the bill is "loose as a goose" in providing the black man and other minority citizens with any assurance against discrimination in housing.

LB718 provides for jurisdiction by an Equal Opportunity Commission, which would be created by enlarging the present Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Batchelder's proposal to eliminate all references to such a commission would "ruin the bill," its chief sponsor, Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island, insisted.

Car Without Motor

"It's like buying a car without a motor or a steering wheel," Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha said.

The amendments would "make this bill totally ineffective," Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln agreed.

But Batchelder said the proper avenue for enforcement is through the courts. The proposed commission would "result in more harrassment and more bad will than we have now," he declared.

Based on the actions of the current employment commission, the proposed administrative body would become engaged in "gestapo tactics," Batchelder said. He cited alleged equal employment harrassment of the John Deere Company in Omaha.

'Not Enough'

Judging from the fact that the employment commission is now "advertising for complaints" by the use of billboards, "there is not enough discrimination to make this worthwhile anyway," he suggested.

Swanson argued forcefully for a strong bill.

"This is a good bill," he said, one arrived at through "a series of compromises" by interested citizens and organizations, including realtors like himself.

Discrimination, Swanson said, is "morally wrong. It is a blight on our society . . . a very sorry situation."

Black citizens "need more than a policy statement," Danner declared.

'Killed Bill'

"If you adopt the amendment, you have killed the bill," he insisted. "Then you have succeeded."

Carpenter noted that the bill would permit Omaha to adopt its own open housing ordinance and enforce the law at the local level.

Commissions like the one proposed in LB718 have been "promoting disturbances, rioting and burning" throughout the land, Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said.

Senators who voted against the amendment, then joined with Carpenter in seeking reconsideration were Ellen Craft of North Platte, Herb Duis of Gothenburg, Pat Moulton of Omaha, and J. James Waldron of Callaway.

Seven of Omaha's 12 senators supported the Batchelder amendment; all six Lancaster County lawmakers opposed it.

FLAGS FLY AT HALF-STAFF . . . in Niobrara, while boys' parents grieve loss.

'They Served, Died Together'

Niobrara (AP) — "They served together and God took them together."

Those were the words of Mrs. Linda Sage Wednesday as she cradled her 13-month-old son and tried to fight back the tears as she spoke of the loss at sea of her husband, Gregory, and two of his brothers.

In an emotion-strained voice, the 21-year-old Mrs. Sage said:

"We don't blame anyone. We don't blame the Navy or Australia. It was the boys' wish that they serve together. That's the way they wanted it, and that's the way we accepted it. This was an accident — I guess it couldn't be helped."

Shared By Town

Mrs. Sage expressed the grief shared by this entire community over the loss of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sage, who farm near here.

The sons, Radarman 2.C. Gregory, 21; Boatswain's Mate 2.C. Gary, 22, and Seaman Recruit Kelly, 19, are among the 73 men missing following the collision of their ship, the USS Frank Evans, and the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne in the South China Sea.

The parents and their only surviving child, Douglas, 6, now have only a picture of the three boys. The picture had arrived only last month as a Mother's Day gift and showed three full-fledged Navy men outfitted in their dress blues.

Douglas and Gregory's son, Gregory Allen Jr., just couldn't seem to understand the tragedy.

Wednesday morning, the country gravel road to the Sages' home was blocked with the cars of neighbors who came to express their grief.

The parents appeared on the porch of their farm home for pictures, but they didn't try to answer reporters' questions. Mrs. Sage sat with her head cradled on her husband's shoulder and tears often appeared.

In the town of Niobrara, located in northeast Nebraska, flags were lowered to half-staff and nearly everyone of the 720 residents made plans to attend special memorial services at the high school, conducted by the Rev. Charles Lindgren, the Sages' Lutheran pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Lindgren said memorial services have tentatively been planned for Wednesday, June 11 at 2 p.m.

Townspeople were reminded of the brothers each time they passed the Masonic Temple. There in the window were posted the pictures of three smiling boys, along with more than a score of other Niobrara youths in the armed services.

Son In Navy

One of the first to lower his flag was grocer Harry Tichy. Tichy said his son Michael, also serving in the Navy, had written home recently saying that he and the Sage boys had "quite a get together" recently at Subic Bay in the Philippines.

Around Niobrara, citizens remembered the boys as "average kids who were full of fun."

How did the three brothers happen to be on the same ship?

The father, World War II Army veteran, said: "Maybe I had something to do with it. I told them I thought maybe they'd have a little better life in the Navy. It seemed like good advice then."

Wednesday afternoon, Rear Adm. Henry Renkin, commandant of the Ninth Naval District, delivered personal condolences to the family from President Nixon.

The message signed by the President read:

"I was deeply shocked to learn that your sons Gary, Gregory and Kelly are missing as the result of the accident which took place in the South China Sea. Please know that our hearts are made heavy by such tragedies, and your grief is shared by us all. You are constantly in the prayers of Mrs. Nixon and me in this dark hour."

Says Tone 'Ominous'

. . . Parts Offensive

Washington (AP) — Democratic senators reacted sharply Wednesday to President Nixon's criticism of those he called the new isolationists who have declared "open season on the armed forces." (More on Page 11.)

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the tone of Nixon's speech was ominous and portions of it were personally offensive.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said the President's speech gives "the unfortunate implication that those who are vigorously opposing the ABM and questioning defense boondoggles are unilateral disarmers and new isolationists."

Nelson Cites ABM Case

"It is not unilateral disarmament to urge that we get down immediately to the business of arms control negotiations with the Soviet Union" and delay the antiballistic missile, Nelson said.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said, "I know of no responsible American who advocates that we alone lay down our arms. What is sweeping America is a demand that we readjust our priorities and our goals so that we tackle the immense problems we face at home and abroad with realism and not with rhetoric."

Fulbright accused the administration of hindering a peace settlement by refusing to relinquish control of South Vietnam.

No Sign Seen

"I see nothing in their actions to indicate we don't intend to continue to control South Vietnam, at least by proxy," he said. "If so there is not going to be an honorable settlement."

Fulbright's remarks came in testimony before a joint economic subcommittee investigating the military budget and in an impromptu news conference in a Senate corridor.

He said he interpreted the President as saying America will continue in its role as a sort of world policeman.

Levels Charge

Fullbright accused the President of painting critics as somehow unpatriotic.

"This is not a new phenomenon," he said. "I think it is essentially an un-American approach to attempt to stifle discussion of legitimate problems."

"Neither I nor this subcommittee is attacking the military forces of the country," he said. "We are questioning the political judgments that led us into this quagmire."

May End Restraint

Fulbright said he will throw aside his self-imposed restraint on criticizing the war if nothing comes out of the President's meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu on Midway Island this weekend.

Survivors Say Ship Had No Warning

Pearl Harbor, Hawaii (AP) — Survivors of the USS Frank E. Evans said Wednesday they had no warning before the Australian carrier Melbourne cut their ship in two in the South China Sea, with the loss of 74 American crewmen.

Navy investigators talked for the first time to some of the 199 survivors, all but one of them aboard the carrier Kearsarge bound for Subic Bay in the Philippines.

They told of acts of heroism among shipmates and a lack of panic aboard the crippled stern section in the terrifying moments after the collision. The bow section, containing those who died, sank.

Reports released here indicated the sailors, many in their underwear, performed emergency rescue and damage control "just as we had done during drill."

Most Were Asleep

Most of the crew was asleep when the big carrier cut the destroyer in half, sending the forward section of the smaller ship 5,400 feet to the sea bottom.

There were small fires and some explosions, the survivors said. The impact hurled many sleeping seamen through the cracked hull.

One man was killed outright and 73 others went down with the severed hull.

"At first I thought we had run aground," said Seaman Apprentice Mark A. Gee of Port Angeles, Wash. "Suddenly, everything heaved to starboard."

The young sailor said mattresses and people were thrown to the deck along with "everything else that wasn't tied down."

'We've Collided!'

He said he remembered someone shouting, "We've collided!" There were no lights but he said he and several seamen managed to reach safety on the ship's fantail.

The forward section of the ship began to capsize immediately after the huge impact as sea water gushed into gaping crevices.

Crewmen astern ran from compartment to compartment securing hatches and doors. Others helped or carried stunned shipmates to the deck.

Engineman 3.C. Charles M. Frey of San Mateo, Calif., and a companion pulled three shipmates from one of the crevices.

A giant whirlpool, caused by the sinking wreckage, sucked some sailors below the waves.

Electrician's Mate 1.C. Everett O. Dees of Long Beach, Calif., said he was pulled under but managed to swim back to the surface.

"I looked around," he said. "I was alongside of the captain (Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore). We both hung on to debris and were soon picked out of the water by the Australians."

The 25,000-ton Melbourne sustained a gashed bow and some flight deck damage in the predawn collision, but no crewmen were hurt.

Loss Of 3 Brothers Prompts Assignment Policy Review

Washington (AP) — The loss of three brothers in the destroyer Frank E. Evans disaster prompted Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird Wednesday to order an urgent review of assignment policies of the Navy, Army, Air Force and Marines.

He instructed Assistant Defense Secretary Roger Kelley to report back June 15 with answers to this question: "Should our assignment policy be revised and if so, how, to prevent assignment of members of a single family to the same ship or unit?"

Laird expressed shock at the loss of the Sage brothers of Niobrara, Neb., Gary, 22; Gregory, 21; and Kelly, 19.

Meanwhile, a preliminary hearing aboard the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne delayed arrival of 198 survivors of the Evans at the U.S. Navy's Subic Bay base in the Philippines. One injured crewman has been flown to Vietnam.

Aft Section Afloat

Most of the survivors were in the destroyer's aft section which remained afloat after the Evans and the Melbourne collided during sea maneuvers before dawn Tuesday in the South China Sea.

The 74 who were lost were in the bow section that sank within minutes of the collision. Only one body was recovered. The search for the others has been abandoned.

Laird, in ordering a review of assignment policy for the various services, said he understands the policies vary.

The Navy said its policy is "to permit brothers to serve on the same ship together when they request it, as did the Sage brothers, and when it is feasible." Normally, members of the same family do not serve together unless the request is made in writing.

Iowans Killed

The Navy's policy was laid down as a result of the World War II death of the five Sullivan brothers of Waterloo, Iowa, when the cruiser Juneau was sunk during the battle of Guadalcanal No. 13, 1942. The Navy had no immediate information whether the loss of the Sage brothers was the heaviest in a single family since then.

The Pentagon announced that Australia and the United States will conduct a joint investigation of the collision, as suggested by Navy Secretary John Chafee.

Lower Voting Age Gets 1st Round OK

Almost without debate, the Legislature Wednesday gave its initial 29-1 blessing to a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 20.

The bill, LB168, will need 30 affirmative votes on final reading to gain access to the 1970 general election ballot.

Voting against the proposal — the first of 21 constitutional amendments slated for legislative consideration this week — was Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa.

Voters in 1968 barely defeated a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 19.

The Legislature this year has already enacted into law an act which reduces the age of majority in the state from 21 to 20, and LB168 has been widely viewed by legislators as a companion proposal.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha is the constitutional amendment's sponsor.

Lawmakers were engaged in debate over a second proposed amendment when they adjourned for the day.

The proposal, LB247, would eliminate the constitutional requirement that all bills be read in full on final reading.

The 1969 session will waste the equivalent of a full month of morning sessions fulfilling that constitutional mandate, Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway said.

But a number of senators objected to the bill, and discussion was interrupted by adjournment.

Jet Burns; 79 On It

Mexico City (AP) — A Mexican jetliner with 79 persons aboard crashed and burned on a cloud-shrouded mountain in northeast Mexico Wednesday. Aerial spotters reported no sign of survivors.

Several high-ranking political figures, a sports hero and a wedding party were believed to be aboard the Mexicana de Aviacion flight from Mexico City to Monterrey.

"There is certainly no one alive because the plane exploded in the air," said Dr. Juan Antonio Margain, Red Cross rescue chief in Monterrey. He did not say why he believed the Boeing 727 exploded.

The crash site was on a mountainside more than a mile above sea level, 30 miles west of Monterrey.

Canterbury, England (UPI) — "Car or Wife Must Go," read the advertisement in the local newspaper Wednesday.

"Car — 1963 MGB, red, all extras. $1,200. Wife — 1944, blonde, 5 ft. 36-24-36. $60,000 or nearest offer."

Ken Shaw, who placed the ad, said he is offering his wife for sale because she complains his sports car is cramped and drafty. "For the sake of peace in the home, one of them has to go," said Shaw.

The document will propose "new bases" for inter-American economic and social cooperation that would go beyond the Alliance for Progress.

Front Still Spurns Offer

Washington — The National Liberation Front still refuses to accept South Vietnamese President Thieu's offer of secret talks, according to informed sources. The Viet Cong's demands for a "peace cabinet," according to the sources, is an attempt to undermine United States support for Thieu's government.

Nixon Attracts Critics

Colorado Springs — In a strongly worded commencement address at the Air Force Academy, President Nixon unleashed a strong counterattack on the "new isolationist" critics of his defense and foreign policies. (More on Page 11.)

'Old Nixon' Said Re-Emerging

Washington — President Nixon's attack on his military critics may have destroyed his reserve of good will on Capitol Hill. For the first time since he took office, some Democrats began making their criticisms personal. Both Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Sen. Albert Gore suggested the "old Nixon" was re-emerging. (More on Page 1.)

Hospital Program Extended

Washington — Urban lawmakers failed in a bid to obtain a larger share of federal money for hospitals as the House passed a three-year extension of the Hill-Burton program to build and modernize hospitals. (More on Page 15.)

School Aid Would Increase

Washington — The Nixon administration's top education advisers are developing an ambitious new plan to radically increase support of the nation's public school systems. The earliest impact would be felt in the largest and poorest urban schools.

Archbishop Lucey Retires

New York — The retirement of the Roman Catholic arcrbishop of San Antonio, the Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, was announced in Washington by the church's apostolic delegate to the United States. Four Bases Abandoned; They Bloodied Enemy

World News

Saigon (AP) — The U.S. 25th Infantry Division has abandoned four fire bases that inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy in April, American military sources said Wednesday.

The reasons given are a lack of enemy activity, the onset of the monsoon rains, and because the troops and their 105mm howitzers can be better used elsewhere.

The fire bases are Diamond I, II and III and Frontier City, 30 to 35 miles northwest of Saigon and close to the Cambodian border.

All stood astride or close to infiltration routes to Saigon. The U.S. Command said the bases were set up to check infiltration. It denied they were meant as bait to lure the enemy from its sanctuary in Cambodia, as some soldiers in the bases suspected.

Did Lure Enemy

In any case, the bases did lure the enemy from Cambodia. In two human-wave assaults alone in April, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong lost 483 dead by allied reckoning. U.S. losses were 13 killed and 16 wounded.

The reason for the lop-sided casualty figures was that each fire base was interlocking with the others, so that artillery not only in the base under attack, but also in supporting bases, zeroed in on the waves of North Vietnamese, and Viet Cong. And then there were the helicopter gunships, which mowed down many attackers.

The attacks were made by the Viet Cong 9th Division — now composed of 70-90% North Vietnamese troops. It is "still reputed to be in the area," but inactive of late, one source said.

Fierce fighting continued in the central highlands, where South Vietnamese forces claim they have killed 945 enemy troops in a three-week operation around Dak To.

North Vietnamese, possibly firing from inside Laos with guns that have a 10-mile range, sent 75 rounds Tuesday and another 25 rounds Wednesday into U.S. artillery, medical and Special Forces bases supporting the South Vietnamese at Dak To and Ben Het, 11 miles to the northeast.

The Wednesday shellings caused no damage, spokesmen said. On Tuesday several Americans were wounded at the Dak To installations and six civilians were wounded when a shell hit their home at Ben Het.

DOUGLAS DOLLARHIDE IS THE WINNER

City Councilman Douglas F. Dollarhide gives out with a "V" for victory after becoming the first Negro mayor of Compton, Calif. With him is his wife, Ruby. Dollarhide, 46, the city's first Negro councilman, defeated Dr. Walter Tucker, a 44-year-old Negro dentist. As far as the mayor-elect is concerned, "I don't think being a Negro is very important. I think what's important is what a man does — not what he looks like." Dollarhide said his policy will be "business as usual," namely the development of the Los Angeles suburb of 78,000 population as "a good place to live and work."

Communist Schism Appears Widening

By JOHN BAUSMAN

Moscow (AP) — Signs of disunity within Communist ranks multiplied Wednesday as party leaders from East and West gathered in Moscow for a Red summit meeting.

While the Russians hope the meeting will give new unity to the world movement, rumblings from some Western Communist delegations indicate things might not go as smoothly as the Kremlin would like. The world conference, which opens Thursday, will consider a basic document drawn up over the past year by a special preparatory commission.

Keyed to a call for Communist unity against imperialism, it sidesteps such controversial issues as the Soviet-Chinese split and the Russian-led invasion of Czechoslovakia last August, Communist sources report. The document has never been made public.

Hopes Fall Short

Communist parties in Japan and the Netherlands are the latest to announce they will not attend. Thus from the outset the Soviet search for world-wide unity falls short of its goal.

More than 70 of the 88 Communist parties through the world expected to attend the meeting. Many are small and without importance at home or abroad, however. The absence of China and other parties means a significant percentage of world Communist membership will not be represented.

Communist sources report that a number of other delegations have expressed opposition to the bland and equivocal nature of the prepared statements.

A key opponent is the big Italian Communist Party, which comes here after a Central Committee meeting that last week protested Moscow's efforts to hide the divisions within the Communist world.

Doctrine At Issue

Communist sources report these delegations generally object to the evasive character of the principal conference document. Key points at issue are the invasion of Czechoslovakia to squelch a budding liberal movement, and the so-called "Brezhnev Doctrine."

Hardin Says $20,000 Farm Subsidy Lid Might Backfire

Washington (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said Wednesday a House-passed ceiling on government subsidies to big farmers might backfire and increase costs instead of reducing them.

Hardin testified before the Senate agricultural appropriations subcommittee which is holding hearings on an appropriations bill passed by the House which limits a single farm to $20,000 a year in price support and crop reduction payments.

The measure is intended to reduce spending by the Agriculture Department, but Hardin said it might do the opposite because of a little-known "snap-back" clause in the 1965 farm act.

This, he explained, provides that if Congress limits direct government payments to cotton farmers, the Agriculture Department is required to offer price supports to all cotton growers through an alternative method — price support loans — with no limitations on big growers.

Now, cotton farmers receive payments through a price support loan of about 20 cents a pound plus a supplemental direct payment. But Hardin said if the snap-back clause were activated, the law would require him to offer price support loans at not less than 60% of the "fair earning power" parity price — or about 32 cents a pound.

He said government experts estimated this would mean an increase in cotton production of about two million bales a year, resulting in a $160 million increase in the federal cotton support program.

Hardin said the House's version — a $20,000 ceiling imposed as a rider on the appropriation bill — was not the way to go about limiting subsidies.

Miller Hailed By Methodists

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Conference of The United Methodist Church praised former State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller Wednesday for "enlightened and dedicated service" to the state.

Delegates to the annual meeting unanimously endorsed such a resolution introduced by Dr. Darrel Berg, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in Lincoln.

The resolution criticized the manner in which Dr. Miller was fired last week by the State Board of Education.

Delegates also were told that church leaders must "bring the general membership along" into involvement with issues in modern American society even at the risk of losing membership support.

This statement came from Thomas P. Moore of Bucyrus, Ohio, president of the board of laity of the church.

"Issue-oriented ministries are not popular," he said. "Church leaders must bring the understanding and compassion of the membership along with them."

In the past, Moore said, the church has feared experiment and involvement, but its leaders now realize experiment is necessary in a changing society.

State Has Power To Condemn City Park, Opinion Declares

Omaha (AP) — Omaha State Sen. George Syas reported Wednesday he has received an attorney general's opinion saying that the state has the power to condemn a city park, regardless of covenants.

The opinion, written by Assistant Atty. Gen. James J. Duggan, said: "Generally speaking, the state has the power of eminent domain over all land in the entire state no matter what it is used for or who owns it, except property which is owned by the United States of America."

Syas said he requested the opinion because Omaha city officials and park supporters have questioned the power of the University of Nebraska regents to condemn Elmwood Park for expansion of the University of Nebraska at Omaha campus.

Assistant City Atty. Verne Vance said that despite the attorney general's opinion he still questions whether the regents could condemn Elmwood Park because condemnation must be based on necessity and "I'm not sure they could show this."

Bill Said Unnecessary

Vance said it now appears that in view of the opinion a bill introduced in the legislature appears unnecessary. LB1409 provides power for the regents to condemn 40 acres of Elmwood if negotiations to purchase the tract were unsuccessful.

The bill remains in the Judiciary Committee.

Holland Feared U.S. Intervention In Curacao Riots

The Hague (AP) — The Netherlands sent troops to Curacao in the Netherlands Antilles to prevent U.S. intervention following Friday's riots there, the Dutch television said.

The report said this was the interpretation by well-informed sources of Tuesday's government declaration that 300 Royal Marines were sent at the request of the Curacao government to prevent an "authority vacuum" there.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Noticing an editorial elsewhere on this page yesterday morning about the hiring of outside consultants to make a study of the transit system in Lincoln, a citizen informed us that no such study was necessary.

"I have ridden the buses for many years," he said, "up until very recently. Now I'm riding downtown in a car pool. The trouble with our bus system is that the service is bad, the equipment no good and the fare too high."

Well, the fellow expressed some of our own feelings but we can't go along with him in total. We, too, believe that the service is not adequate and the equipment not modern. As for fares, they have certainly increased but still may not be out of line.

Having said that, however, you have not solved the problem and that is why a study is needed. The present private operator of the public transit system knows, too, that service and equipment are not what patrons might want.

Why, then, doesn't it change things? Simply because it cannot see an adequate return on its investment. It cannot see an appreciable increase in patronage by providing better service with better equipment.

A lot of people have a lot of ideas that look like winners but turn out to be losers. The U.S. Patent Office is loaded with good ideas that never made their inventors a dime. And business and industry contain a lot of people with ideas on how to make a million dollars but few of the ideas succeed.

The point is that things are not always as simple as they seem. Lincoln City Lines is a national operation, big in the transportation field. It is a diversified transportation corporation that makes money.

That company is in Lincoln to make money and if it could make money by improving service and equipment, that is exactly what it would do. But it says it can't and we are inclined to believe it. It has had the same experience in many other cities, as well as an occasional experience the other way.

Hopefully, the study will give us a basis on which to proceed in trying to solve the public transit problem in Lincoln. Hopefully, the study will provide us with an answer to some of the riddles which seem to baffle us at the moment.

The study should include a full analysis of the economics of the situation and an outline of the human factors involved. Why do people stop riding the public transit system, aside from the reasons of service, equipment and fares?

There are other reasons, such as the convenience of the private automobile which cannot be matched by any public transit system. Does improved patronage demand a level of service that is possible only through government subsidy?

If a subsidy is the answer, does the ownership remain in private hands or does the city acquire the property? If the city aquires the property, does it enter into an operating agreement with the present owner or try to operate the business itself?

One might ask if Lincoln needs a public transit system at all. We believe that it does but facts should be developed to support that conclusion.

In the area of service alone there are innumerable possibilities that need to be examined in the light of the city's factual needs. This includes such things as shuttle service from major depots, express service, inter suburban service and the relationship to be derived between public and private means of transportation.

A major study of the situation may not be too popular but it will give Lincoln the means by which it can make the most intelligent decision for the future.

Research Center A Bonus

The U.S. Meat Animal Research Center was formally dedicated at Clay Center Tuesday. It is the only center of its kind now in operation and should be considered a prize by all Nebraskans.

Operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the University of Nebraska agricultural experiment station, the center will be the working home for agricultural scientists seeking new discoveries in animal genetics, meat production and marketing.

Speaking to the dedication audience, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin, himself closely associated with development of the center, noted that each dollar spent on agricultural research returns at least 35% per year. Despite the surpluses of recent years, Hardin answered those who question the value of research by emphasizing the industry's need to produce and market its product more efficiently in the face of the American consumers' demand for quality meat.

Other officials at the dedication realizing its impact on the nation's livestock industry called the center "the finest laboratory of its kind in the world," a "scientific community second to none in the agriculture field," and "a truly great force for agricultural progress."

It should be all of those. Still not completed, it has 22,000 of its 35,000 acres seeded to grass and the current livestock inventory includes 3,000 sheep and 5,000 cattle. The center when it reaches 100 percent capacity will have a staff of 300, including some 80 leading agricultural researchers. Agriculture is Nebraska's number one industry, and the center, as a single attraction, has more potential than any other similar facility for drawing the interest of scientists and meat producers the world over.

Why Wait With Right?

While it has obvious political overtones, the matter of redistricting in Nebraska should still be properly attended to. This has been the position of Democratic National Committee Chairman James Exon of Lincoln but ignored by Republican Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

Of course, Tiemann doesn't feel like doing anything suggested by Exon but the fact is that Exon is correct and the governor is wrong. The governor, for obvious political reasons, is permitting an injustice to continue by not seeking legislative enactment of new congressional and legislative boundaries.

No one denies that Nebraska districts are not apportioned strictly according to population. Further, no one denies that compliance with U.S. Supreme Court rulings dictates that the state be apportioned on a strict population basis. But still the governor and others say we should wait until we have the 1970 census figures to correct the situation.

What this does is get the state through another election at which time a host of offices, including half the Legislature and three House seats, will be filled for brand new terms under the old malapportionment we now have. Half the Legislature would then be serving for four years from districts which are patently unequal in representation.

And the governor, of course, could run for reelection, if he so decides, without the consequences of any reapportionment battle. The governor, in refusing to seek reapportionment, is plainly serving his own political interests at the expense of the rights of the citizenry.

Bad Experience

Reno, Nev.

When someone you love travels alone, you worry. Why be in love if you don't? You worry to an extent that some happening of your imagination will not occur. Now, in love or not, travel is necessary. The nation's highways are littered with places in which to stay. Each advertises their ability to be the best, okay? Okay!

A woman alone. She is traveling through Lincoln, Neb. It has been a long day — she is tired — Motel — seems quite nice — she drives in. She registers with this host of the road. A host to thousands over the years, no doubt. A host as one would expect.

In the early morning hours there is attack upon the windows of her room. Someone is trying to break in. In terror she calls the motel office and the intruder disappears. Well, how can this woman traveling alone, tired, find any rest in that room under those conditions? The motel owner states that he has to be up all night, so why not come over and stay in the office?

I suppose you'd rate that suggestion with a sigh of relief, wouldn't you? You know — tired, thankful, trusting . . . and then he, the host. He, the protector. He, the scarer away of felons in the night, proceeds to make physical demands upon this woman. I am apprised of this situation in a tearfilled telephone conversation the next morning.

Now it would appear that I happen to be a "fur piece away" according to my address but I'm quite sure that no matter whether it be Nevada or Nebraska, or whether it be at a Grange dance or a church social, nobody but nobody makes a gesture like that to my woman. It would be quite unheard of.

It's very much like the screaming of attempted rape in front of a police station and then running inside to the actuality.

Now, names of individuals are not important here. What is important is that if this local resident of yours can read, that he read this. Sitting there in the comfort of his motel he can enjoy no fear of incrimination because, after all, it's just her word against his.

Well, we transients have good memories too. I'm only sorry that I didn't prepare her properly. "Honey, I'm sorry for that night in Lincoln, Neb. I'm sorry for the trust you have in other people. I'm sorry I didn't smack you around and tell you not to trust anything that moves. I'm sorry that I didn't tread on all sorts of ideals we've built over the years."

Blame City

Lincoln, Neb.

On the front page of the Sat., May 31, Star there is an article which places the blame for an accident at 48th and Old Cheney Road on a practical joker having removed a stop sign. Let's place the blame right where it belongs, and that's right in the lap of the city.

The stop sign was blown off its wooden post by wind and not removed by any high school or college student. After it had lain on the ground for several days someone tried replacing it on its post where it remained for a short while before being blown off again. Only after this was it apparently carried off by someone.

For a good month this intersection remained without a stop sign, at which time I called the police department's traffic division and inquired about it, pointing out that it was a potential hazard being a completely unmarked dead-end. However, the man I spoke with claimed it was the county's responsibility, not the city's, and said he would notify the sheriff's office.

In spite of this we continued without a stop sign until bright and early on the morning following the accident in which Daniel Hutchison was injured by driving off the dead-end.

If I'm correct in thinking this area has been taken into the city limits, then apparently there is a lack of communication somewhere along the line. It seems to me that if these outlying districts are going to be taken into the city limits the city should make certain first that it can properly serve and patrol them, and it would be nice if everyone were made aware of the situation as quickly as the tax assessor's office apparently is . . .

At any rate, let's not take the easy way out this time and let the kids take the blame for something that wasn't their doing.

Patchwork Prairie Country

Nature has its own timetable, I have come to understand this spring. No amount of prodding will alter its mode of growth. Mid-April I set out a dozen tomato plants, thinking if they did not freeze, I would have an early crop to harvest. It's true they did not freeze but neither did they grow in the cool wet weather. They just languished in the mud, disappearing one by one. Cutworms took their toll while others just got tired of living and gave up the struggle. I have since replanted these and added a number more to the original patch. They seem to know the season is right for growing. Some of them are blooming. Now, if I can convince the rabbits that tomatoes are not rabbit food, I may have some for eating.

Several weeks ago when I was cleaning the pockets of The Farmer's overalls for washing, I found some strange looking something or other I had never seen before. At first I thought the hard brown objects were old prunes or dates. There were several ridged seeds (at least it would not be uncommon for any farmer to pick up seeds) about as big around as a quarter, slightly flattened on the bottom.

When I asked about the unusual find, The Farmer said they were buckeye seeds. Supposedly they will cure rheumatism if they are carried around in the pocket until the ridges are worn smooth. Many old-timers know of this belief just as I am familiar with mustard plasters for colds.

The Farmer does not have rheumatism but accepted the seeds from a visitor to the farm who had gathered them along the river nearby for friends who would effect relief from rheumatic pains. Others wished to plant the seeds just as we have done. Who knows? By the time the trees have grown to size when they drop their seeds, we may be in need of them to cure our rheumatiz.

☆ ☆ ☆

I was curious to find more information about the buckeye. There are a variety of horse chestnuts with large showy clusters of flowers, large leaves and burs containing the brown glossy nuts in clusters like the flowers. Ohio is called the Buckeye State. I did not know about Ohio but it had never occurred to me to find the reason why it became the Buckeye State.

☆ ☆ ☆

I learned of another unusual plant this spring and promptly dug it. Near our back door a plant looking very much like rhubarb grew lush and green. Since I have rhubarb, I thought it may have been carried to this area by a bird that chose to perch on the privet hedge nearby while it nibbled on a seed.

As the plant grew, the new leaves developed, although they were narrower and not as ruffled as the rhubarb in the garden. I did not question this fact although The Farmer said it looked like a weed to him but he had never seen one that looked quite like it.

One day I heard a farm and garden expert identify the plant as burdock . . . a pest on the Sandhills that looked like rhubarb with narrow leaves. I quickly found the spade and dug the pest from my backdoor step.

Several years ago we had dirt hauled into this area from a distance of ten miles, to fill the low area around a garage we built onto the house. We surmise the seed may have been in the dirt fill that was used.

Bubbly, Lovebirds Hike Wedding Cost

This is the era when, in some circles, marriage is square.

This being the traditional wedding month, however, let us momentarily ignore these Refugees from Entanglement in Romantic, Establishment-Labeled Systems — and concentrate on the bumper crop of Americans who will legally be spliced in the next few weeks.

After conducting a survey of costs and customs of wedding activities in the land, I have concluded that weddings this year will cost over $7 billion—an average of close to $2,000 per event.

How can weddings be so costly? It's easy. Especially if the wedding and-or reception is held at a hotel:

"If the ceremony is held here," says F. Bart Moore, banquet manager of Manhattan's famous old Plaza Hotel, "the floral decorations in the larger rooms can run from five to 10 thousand dollars alone."

At the elegant Regency Hotel on Park Avenue, a reception can cost up to $200 per head (of guest).

At New York's St. Regis, a wedding dinner can cost $35 a person, plus tax and tips, and the wine—"if the bridal couple wants the best" — could come to $100 a bottle.

☆ ☆ ☆

New York hotel weddings and parties tend to run higher than midwest and southern affairs. But in Los Angeles and San Francisco, the father of the bride can (and frequently does) entertain just as lavishly and expensively.

"At a recent wedding, the bride's father asked that throughout the reception, the silver fountain in our Peacock Court dispense champagne from multiple spigots," reported the manager of San Francisco's Mark Hopkins. "The fountain's capacity is seven gallons, and we refilled it many times. The guests found it delightful, accompanied by our chef's exclusive Camembert-filled pastry swans."

Those pastry swans mount up. So do those live birds that are a feature at many fancy wedding parties.

In Chicago, George Horwich (consultant and president of "Weddings, Inc.") rents out live lovebirds at $100 a pair. At the renowned Beverly Hills Hotel in California, wedding receptions often feature doves in cages.

Marriage is not square. It comes in round (and very big) figures . . .

The Year Since Robert Kennedy Was Assassinated Has Not Lessened Need Of Common Vision In U.S.

On Thursday morning it will be a year since Robert Kennedy was shot. Time has not diminished the sense that life without him is incomplete.

The memories are not, in the main, solemn or sentimental, though men ordinarily rated skeptical still use the word love in talking abut him. What is missed is the vitality — the force of personality that made him impossible to ignore or take for granted.

There were so many contradictory qualities in him. He could be moodily silent and exuberant, tender and harsh, uproarious in self-mockery and bewildered at the thought that some people hated him.

He was a realist and a dreamer, a man who knew as few did the depth of the difficulties facing society but who insisted they had somehow to be met — the last of the romantics, someone said.

His romanticism, if that is what it was, was not sustained by the elements that nourish most of us liberal optimists. He drew little inspiration from political theory or philosophical abstractions, no deep solace from music or painting. His restoratives were children — really any children — and family and challenge for its own sake.

From all this it follows that he could not be a conventional politician. He was no good at constructing the externals that shield most politicians, the bland or confident facade. His emotions, his doubts, his regrents were all too exposed. And he was so happily irreverent about politics.

The critics said he could never have been a candidate for president if his brother had not preceded him, and they were doubtless correct. But it is not necessarily wrong that, through such an accident, a country should have the chance to choose an unconventional leader.

It is all a year ago now, and far away. But there is still implicit in the American scene the question whether someone representing what Robert Kennedy did is acceptable or necessary in our society now.

One view is that the tide has turned irresitibly against the politics of action.

There certainly was, and is, a national weariness — a revulsion against being driven on toward heroic social goals. Robert Kennedy kept reminding Americans of their country's trouble and inadequacies, of the unfairness in life, and it is understandable that many people preferred to be left alone for a while.

☆ ☆ ☆

Many liberal activists would say now that the United States had come to the right time for a pause. They approve of President Nixon's undramatic tone. They may think that a Republican secretary of state with no rooted commitments is preferable to a Democrat who is a tireless, dedicated effective advocate of the policy that brought us to where we are in Vietnam.

We needed the Eisenhower interlude, some have said, with reason, and now we need another. But that view carries its own warning. For whatever else of value the Eisenhower years represented, they were also at time of insufficient action on the racial problem — for which the United States will pay indefinitely.

That is the imponderable in today's politics of calm: what may the eventual cost be? The underlying torments of race and poverty and frustrated youthful idealism are not going to go away.

There, because of his puzzling, unpolitical personality, Robert Kennedy could have made a difference. America's dispossessed and disaffected were somehow able to identify with him. He offered them hope as apparently no one else inside the system could. And life without hope must produce frustration.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is current wisdom that the political majority in the United States is unblack, unpoor and unyoung. But that does not mean that the majority can afford to become increasingly separated from the minority.

That most Americans are fearful and angry at the violence of the internal attacks on this society is understandable. But it cannot be enough, in the long run, for political leaders to make the majority feel righteous by underlining that anger and fear.

Someone, sometime, will have to try again to find a common vision for those inside and outside the society. That could have been the role of Robert Kennedy.

Couple Sets Policy On Charity Donations

By ROBERT PETERSON

Several elders on limited incomes have written to ask how to get off the hook and avoid embarrassment when smiling solicitors ring their bells. Best solution I've seen comes in a letter from a couple in their 70's who say they're living on little more than Social Security.

"We're strapped for money like most old folks," they write, "but we feel no man's so poor these days he can't give something when nice neighbors take the trouble to call in behalf of charity.

"We've made it a policy of giving a dollar and a pleasant smile to any solicitor who bangs at our door in behalf of a good cause. Every month there's one or two — the Heart Fund, Arthritis Fund, local Old Folks Home, Teenage Center, and so on. When the United Fund calls we ask how many agencies are represented and our donation is based on half a dollar for each. By actual count we had 22 different solicitors ring our bell last year. Yet it costs us only $22 in contributions — and it was wonderful not having to think about it, argue, or feel cheap about turning folks away without a cent."

The other day I saw a woman cover her hand neatly with a fresh handkerchief before touching the door knob as she entered a coffee shop. When she sat down at the counter a moment later she began scouring the silverware with the napkin.

A lot of people are overly concerned about bugs. An old gentleman wrote me recently about an uncle who has such a fetish for cleanliness that he stopped going into public, tried to filter the air he breathed, bathed three times a day, and became so suspicious of impurities in food that he ate less and less—succumbing to malnutrition at the age of 48!

I was talking the other day with a retired couple in Phoenix, Ariz. They had formerly lived in Minnesota and said that during their first few months in the West were absolutely entranced by the lazy warmth and brilliant sunshine, and were certain they never wanted to face the uncertainties of northern weather again.

But apparently familiarity breeds contempt. The woman of the house told me she recently called downstairs one morning and asked her spouse what kind of a day it was. His grumbling and unenthusiastic reply was, "Just another one of those darned perfect sunny days."

Bill Setting Two-Year Term For Education Post Offered

By United Press International

A bill establishing a two-year term for the state education commissioner was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

The lawmakers immediately decided to dispense with holding a public hearing on the bill and to place it on general file, the first step of a bill's path through the full Legislature.

The bill, LB1418, was introduced by speaker Jerome Warner of Waverly, who said it was prompted by the recent firing of State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller.

Under the bill, the commissioner would be appointed to a two-year term to begin Feb. 1 of each odd numbered year.

Warner said having a specific term would remove the doubt which surrounded the question of whether the board had the power to fire Miller.

Under his bill, the commissioner could not be fired during his term without a public hearing.

Unanimous consent was required to introduce the bill and there were no objections.

Combined Board For City, County Roads Proposed

By Associated Press

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Wednesday combined the proposed boards of examiners for city street superintendents and county highway superintendents into a single board.

The action came as an amendment to LB1298, which would establish the board for county highway superintendents.

LB1298 and LB1297, which would establish the board for city street superintendents, are part of the 16-bill highway package introduced by an interim highway study committee. Both were held for later disposition.

Under the adopted amendment, the seven-member board would include four county representatives — one from each class of county — and three municipal representatives — one from Lincoln or Omaha, one from a first class city and one from a second class city or village.

The governor would make the appointments after receiving nominations from the Nebraska County Officials Association and the Nebraska League of Municipalities.

Children 'Bomb' Police Station

Hong Kong (UPI) — A government spokesman said children from the Chinese Comunist mailand fired "fireworks rockets" at a police station on the Hong Kong side and threw stones and catapulted marbles at a nearby clinic.

The spokesman said there were no injuries and no action was taken against the children because they apparently were not organized.

We'll pay you 10¢ to spread the good word

Just peanuts, it's not.

The word is easy to spread. Because the peanut butter is easy to spread. In fact, Peter Pan is so creamy, it nearly spreads itself. And it stays that way right down to the bottom of the jar.

When you add this to Peter Pan's rich, grownup taste and protein-packed goodness, it's easy to see why everybody loves it.

Like we say: Just peanuts, it's not.

Try To Broaden Car Impoundment Bill Fails

By Associated Press

The Legislature Wednesday rebuffed an attempt which would have broadened the application of a bill allowing law enforcement officers to impound the cars used by minors arrested for possession of alcohol.

Defeated on a 9-25 vote was Sen. Lester Harsh's motion to return the bill to general file where it could be amended to provide also for the impounding of adults' cars in cases where the driver was drunk.

The bill was one of two which stimulated a floor fight during discussion of bills on select file. Normally, bills are processed through select file with little or no comment.

Returned to general file pending amendment was Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke's LB970, which would permit county "work-release" programs for jail prisoners similar to the one in effect now at the State Penitentiary.

Termed Dual Standard

The car impounding bill, LB688, was attacked by Harsh as setting a "dual standard" for adult and teen-age drivers.

"A drunken driver is a lot more dangerous than a minor who happens to have a bottle of beer in his car," Harsh noted.

Sen. Wayne Schreurs of Seward said the proposed amendment would be a "good way to get these guys out from' under the wheels.' Currently, drunk drivers awaiting court jurisdiction still possess their drivers licenses and cars.

"If he isn't drunk, he gets his car back and there's no problem," Schreurs said.

Sidney Sen. Robert Clark said there was a "world of difference" between adults and minors in possession, noting that Schreurs is a nondrinker, Clark said "he wouldn't know anyway.

"There are plenty of laws whereby drunk drivers can be arrested," Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha protested.

Discussion also erupted on the work-release bill after Omaha Sen. Henry Pedersen asked for the bill's return to general file so that a provision requiring the "agreement" of the county sheriff would be deleted.

The requirement had been tacked onto the original bill earlier by Sen. Herbert Duis of Gothenburg, who contended Wednesday that the provision's deletion would require western Nebraska sheriffs to spend all their time checking on prisoners.

The long warm summer is upon our hills. A time of weeds and roses. "Residents are required by law to clear their property of fire hazards such as tall grass. Failure to do so will be prosecuted etc."

A great deal of communication from authority in such Big Brother language. Irritating stuff — though not meant to be. Still it raises the hackles.

Authority needs a warm rewrite man.

Summer gives a man leisure to think. How can you think about things like the ABM — the anti-ballistic missile? What can you think about it?

The President says we need it. A bunch of prominent people say it will only make other countries edgy. Don't do it.

Another important man says it doesn't make any difference. It won't work anyway.

Yet decide something we must. Before we all go up in one big boom.

Here's a crumbling thought: After many years of avoiding oysters in the months with no "R," I find oysters are at their best in May and June.

I got the word originally from grandma.

Not true says out government. Department of the Interior — (nice thinking to give that department the problem) — Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Well, up at Lake Tahoe police were searching a house for narcotics. They found a mouse who had eaten into a bag of marijuana seeds. And the poor mouse was absolutely stoned.

He was glassy-eyed. Flat on his back. Wiggled his feet when his stomach was tickled.

No report on what the police did. Probably put him in the slammer on a "hold" charge.

There are so many laws. I find myself breaking them without knowing it.

You park. Find the back end is hanging over into a red zone. Try to go around the block for another shot. And discover you are going the wrong way on a one-way street.

"Officer, I was in the street before I realized —."

South Africa has no TV. But TV dinners are a great success. Sell like crazy.

When TV first came out in Japan, it was a great status thing. Many Japanese could not afford TV. They put TV aerials on their houses.

Then the government began taxing TV sets.

Everybody took down their aerials. Those who had sets, switched to rabbit ears. Government tax men can only ask if you have a TV set. They can't come in and look.

☆ ☆ ☆

In our country there are more TV sets than bathtubs. An interesting statistic. But it may not prove we would rather watch "Gunsmoke" than wash.

Could be they're not counting showers.

When I was in short pants, we didn't have showers. We were bathed in the tub on Saturday night. (We must have been raunchy by Friday.)

"Use plenty of soap," said grandma. "It won't kill you. And be sure to get behind your ears."

We didn't have a choice of TV for TV was yet to come.

4 Unions Left As 2 More Reach Contract Agreements

The number of Lincoln craft unions not accepting new contracts with employer groups narrowed to four Wednesday as two unions announced they had come to terms with construction contractors.

Sheet metal workers, and plumbers and steam fitters unions described wage increases as "adequate" in contracts which will remain in force until mid-1971.

W. P. Van Houton, business representative for the plumbers and steam fitters, said an agreement was reached with the Building Construction Employers Association (BCEA) which contracted an 86-cent immediate wage increase to be followed by yearly increases equaling 97% of the national average union plumber's wage.

Plumbers and steam fitters contracts expired June 1 and were renewed after only four negotiation sessions with the BCEA.

The citywide construction strike began following the April 1 expiration of a dozen craft union contracts.

Richard Snook, business representative for Lincoln's sheet metal workers, declined to say what wage increases were written into his union's new contract, but commented that the pay hike was "comparable, if not better" than previous union agreements.

Laborers, who have not officially voted to strike, painters, teamsters, and operating engineers have not yet agreed to contract terms.

Board Approves Appeal In Zoning

The Board of Zoning Appeals Wednesday approved an appeal of Lyle O'Hare, who wanted part of a lot he owns changed from A-2 Single Family to H-2 Highway Commercial zoning.

The property is located in the vicinity of 44th St. and Cirnhusker Hwy.

Doug Marti, an attorney representing O'Hare, told the board that O'Hare wanted the new zoning so that he could build an apartment building on the lot.

Part of the lot is already zoned H-2 Highway Commercial.

The board denied an appeal by Clyde Rogers, who wanted to replace a garage at 2348 D St.

Biafra To Free 18 Oil Workers

Lisbon (AP) — Biafra informed Portugal Wednesday it will free the 18 Italian-employed oilmen it had captured and sentenced to death, a Portuguese foreign ministry spokesman said. No date was set for the release.

The spokesman said a Biafran representative called on the foreign ministry and said the secessionist state's government had decided on "a measure of clemency." The Biafran said they would be freed as soon as possible following action on unspecified procedural matters, the Portuguese spokesman said.

It was a response to what was later described Tuesday as a "demand" by Portugal that the 18 oilmen be freed.

Kendall Death Hikes Holiday Count To 10

Nebraska's Memorial Day weekend highway fatality toll stood at 10 Wednesday with the death of James A. Kendall, 39, of Grand Island.

Kendall died in a Hastings hospital late Tuesday of injuries suffered when the motorcycle on which he was riding and a pickup truck collided at an intersection in the south part of Hastings Sunday.

The operator of the motorcycle, Kenneth D. Melroy, 29, also of Grand Island, was killed outright in the crash.

According to Tom Ryan of the State Accidents Record Bureau, the 1969 Memorial Day weekend road death toll stands only one below the record of 11 set in 1968.

Ryan added that Kendall's death is the seventh motorcycle fatality in Nebraska this year.

Omaha Girl, 15, Dies Of Injuries

Miss Flott was transferred to a Cheyenne hospital Saturday.

President Derides Critics Of Policy As 'New Isolationists'

© New York Times Service

Colorado Springs — President Nixon Wednesday launched a strong counterattack on critics of his military and foreign policy.

He derided them as "new isolationists" and pledged that under his leadership the United States would not "turn its back on the world."

In his first full-length defense of his strategic and diplomatic policies, the President assailed those who would reduce the country's military defenses, weaken its alliances, gradually withdraw from its commitments around the globe.

He noted the rising criticism in Congress and the country about the power of the Pentagon — "it is," he conceded, "open season on the armed forces" — but he said that as President he would tailor his judgments as commander in chief to the requirements of the national security and not to the criticisms of those who preach conciliation through "unilateral" arms reduction.

"We must rule out unilateral disarmament," he declared. "In the real world that simply will not work. If we pursue arms control as an end in itself, we will not achieve our end.

"The adversaries of the world are not in conflict because they are armed. They are armed because they are in conflict, and have not learned peaceful ways to resolve their conflicting national interests."

Nixon delivered his address to 40,000 persons — including 673 graduating cadets — at the Air Force Academy's graduation exercises.

For the second time in two days, the President used strong language to make his case. Tuesday, at a small college in South Dakota, he assailed "permissive" administrators and faculties who, in his view, had too easily bowed to the demands of student revolutionaries. Wednesday, the President assailed those who in his view too quickly "grow weary of the weight of the free world leadership" and who would, as a demonstration of "good faith" to adversaries of the U.S. reduce American commitments and "turn America inward."

In a broad sense Nixon's speech might have been delivered by any modern president since the beginning of the cold war.

Its fundamental assumptions and central themes — that a worldwide American presence is necessary for global stability, and that peace flows not from weakness but from strength — have been basic to U.S. foreign and military policy for more than two decades.

Such assumptions are now being questioned among the young and, to an increasing extent, in Congress.

Warner Plans 'Some Resistance' To Road Revenue Change

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said Wednesday he expects to "offer some resistance" to the revised highway revenue distribution formula proposed by the Legislature's Revenue Committee.

The committee earlier in the day sent to the floor a revised bill increasing for the first four-year period the share of county revenue recommended by the Legislative Council highway study committee headed by Warner.

The city share of revenue would be reduced by a corresponding amount. (See story on Page 17.)

Original proposed distribution was based on need, Warner said, and the new plan would "make it difficult for urban areas to meet their projected 20-year needs."

While he "assume(s) some modification of the recommended distribution may be accepted by the Legislature," Warner said, "there is a point beyond which we cannot go."

Proposed amendments to another highway bill would further increase the county share by giving it first call on available revenue not matched by local communities, Warner noted.

Counties could yield a potential of $4 million in additional revenue under that proposal, he said, although the actual revenue increase for counties might be closer to $2 million.

"If you add that to the new proposed distribution, altogether those changes would reduce the amount proposed for towns considerably," Warner pointed out.

Warner said he will not quarrel with proposed changes in the matching mechanism for individual cities and counties, but he is "reluctant to see unused urban funds going to the counties."

The present proposal for matching fund distribution to cities and counties would return unused funds to the subdivision pot from which they came for later redistribution to other like subdivisions.

A proposal is pending to permit unused city funds to be made available first to the county in which the municipality is located.

Discontinuance Of 2 UP Trains Hit In Resolution

The Legislature Wednesday adopted a resolution requesting the Interstate Commerce Commission to deny the Union Pacific's application to discontinue passenger trains 5 and 6 between Omaha and Los Angeles.

The vote was 34-0.

The trains service Omaha, Fremont, Columbus, Grand Island, Kearney, North Platte, Ogallala, Sidney and Kimball among other towns in Nebraska.

Sen. Robert Clark of Sidney, the chief sponsor of Resolution 50 said, the UP trains are a "fine method of travel" and the proposed discontinuance is of great concern to the residents in this Panhandle area.

3 Bills Killed, One Advanced By Urban Affairs Committee

The Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee Wednesday advanced three bills to the floor and voted to kill another.

Indefinitely postponed on a 5-0 vote was LB1179, which would have authorized counties of 20,000 to 60,000 to require that the county attorney devote full time to his official duties.

An amended version of LB1188, limiting personal liability of sheriffs and deputies to the amount of their bonding, was advanced to the general file with the emergency clause tacked on.

The committee's bill establishing a parking authority law for Omaha, LB1396, was amended and sent to the floor on a unanimous vote.

Also sent to general file on a 7-0 vote was an amended version of LB1295, Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's bill to change the method of naming members of municipal civil service commissions.

Urbanites Fail To Gain Increased Hospital Aid

© New York Times Service

Washington — Urban lawmakers failed Wednesday in their bid for a larger share of federal funds for hospital construction and modernization.

The pleas of New Yorkers and others from large urban areas went unheeded as the House approved a three-year $937 million extension of the Hill-Burton program of federal aid to medical facilities.

Passed by a vote of 351-0, the bill now goes to the Senatoe.

The bill would authorize extension of the existing Hill-Burton program of grants for hospital construction and modernization and for long-term care and rehabilitation facilities.

In addition, it would provide a new program of federally guaranteed loans, with the federal government paying part of the interest, for construction and modernization of facilities.

Changes Asked

Earlier this spring, the Nixon administration had proposed sweeping changes in the hospital grant program first begun just after World War II.

The administration proposed replacing grants with a $500-million annual loan program. It advocated a new program of block grants to states to expand clinics, health centers and other nonhospital facilities.

The administration proposals ran into strong congressional opposition from both parties, for hospital grants have become one of the most politically popular of the federal programs.

As passed by the House, the bill embraces the Nixon administration's guaranteed loan proposal, but not state block grants nor the elimination of hospital grants.

Smith Announces

The administration's capitulation on sweeping changes was officially announced in House debate Wednesday by Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif.

"This bill is approved by the Bureau of the Budget and by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare," he said.

The urban fight for a greater share of the grant funds was led by Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y.

He proposed a change in the formula by which grant funds are allocated to the various states.

Beds Said Needed

During congressional hearings earlier this spring, state agencies reported there is a need for 164,430 new long-term beds, 85,007 new acute care beds, 872 new diagnostic and treatment centers and 388 rehabilitation facilities. The cost was estimated at $5.3 billion.

It also was disclosed that hospitals with 455,130 beds require modernization that would cost about $10.5 billion.

As passed by the House, the bill would authorize three-year expenditures of $405 million for hospital construction; $210 million for long-term care facilities; $165 million for modernization; $60 million for diagnostic and treatment facilities; $30 million for emergency room modernization; and $37.3 million for interest subsidies on guaranteed loans.

Three Workers Perish In Blasts At DuPont Plant

Carneys Point, N.J. (AP) — A series of blasts, seconds apart, ripped through a gunpowder storage area Wednesday at the sprawling E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. explosives works here. At least three persons were killed and dozens of others injured.

Four other employes who worked in the storage area were reported missing.

The tremendous explosion, fueled by more than 200,000 pounds of smokeless gunpowder stored in the four, 60-by-30-foot structures, sent shock waves rolling across the Delaware River and breaking windows in Wilmington, Del.

'Deeply Troubled' Bishop Shannon Resigns Position

Minneapolis, Minn. (AP) — The Most Rev. James P. Shannon confirmed Wednesday that he had submitted his resignation as an auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of St. Paul-Minneapolis and as pastor of St. Helena's church here, the Minneapolis Star said in a copyrighted story.

The bishop described himself as "a deeply troubled man."

It was reported last week that the bishop had submitted his resignation because he was unable to support Pope Paul's encyclical banning artificial birth control. Until Wednesday, however, there was no confirmation from Bishop Shannon.

Cuban Flees Homeland In Plane's Wheel Well

Madrid (AP) — A young Cuban soldier escaped from his homeland Wednesday in the wheel well of a Spanish jetliner unaware that a fellow stowaway apparently fell to his death during the flight.

The survivor, 22-year-old Armando Socarras Ramirez, was pronounced out of danger from the effects of his 7½-hour flight from Havana at 29,000 feet where the temperature hovers around 40 degrees below zero.

Socarras was in grave condition suffering from frostbite and was unconscious when officials found him on the runway at Madrid airport and took him to the hospital, but he rallied quickly.

Socarras tumbled from his niche behind the left wheel of the DC8 after it touched down and came to a stop. He made the trip with no breathing aid and only the wheel cover to protect him from the cold.

After regaining consciousness, Socarras told hospital officials that a companion had hidden himself behind the right wheel of the Iberia Airlines plane. He was identified by the Spanish news service Cifra as Jorge Perez Blanco of Havana.

Parkview Annexation By Grand Island OK'd

By Associated Press

The Legislature Wednesday passed by the skin of its teeth a bill which will allow the city of Grand Island to annex its next-door village of Parkview.

The approving vote on final reading without the emergency clause was 25-12 with 25 required for passage.

The vote on the bill with the emergency clause, which would make LB909 effective immediately after the governor affixes his signature was seven votes short. 26-13. Thirty-three votes are required to pass a bill with the emergency clause.

Without the emergency clause, the bill will become effective three months after the Legislature adjourns for 1969.

Survived Attacks

The bill survived numerous attempts to attach amendments which would have effectively nullified the annexation intent.

Sen. Eugene T. Mahoney of Omaha twice proposed amendments which would have prohibited annexation unless the entire area surrounding the village were subdivided and platted.

More specifically, LB909 authorizes first class cities to annex any second class city or village entirely surrounded by the larger city when certain conditions relating to water, sanitary sewerage and other services are met.

Grand Island Sen. Donald Elrod led support for the bill during previous debate, labeling Parkview as a "bedroom district" whose citizens work and trade in Grand Island but pay no taxes to the city.

Juvenile Division

The lawmakers stalled the final passage of Beatrice Sen. Fred Carstens' bill which would establish within the Department of Institutions a division of juvenile delinquency.

By a 20-18 vote, the Legislature accepted Lincoln Sen. John Knight's request that the disposition of the bill, LB603, on final reading be postponed until the omnibus corrections measure, LB1307, rises to final reading.

LB1307, introduced at the request of Gov. Norbert Tiemann, covers the entire corrections and parole field.

Carstens objected to Knight's move. "LB1307 takes care of young people convicted of crimes," he said. "LB603 puts the emphasis on crime prevention."

Carstens said he has "no particular objections to LB1307" but "I will not yield all my convictions about juvenile crime prevention."

Floor Debate Set On Truck Weights

The Legislature Wednesday set first stage floor debate on a bill to increase maximum truck weights for Friday.

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, chief sponsor of LB911, said "persons in the wheat growing business" are hopeful the bill can be enacted before the wheat harvest season begins.

LB911 would increase maximum weights on highways other than the Interstate.

Revised Distribution Formula For Road Funds Sent To Floor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Wednesday sent to the floor a revised highway revenue distribution formula which would increase for the first four years the recommended allocation to counties.

The share for cities recommended by the Legislative Council highway study committee would be reduced, while the state's share of revenue would remain unchanged.

In other action, the committee accepted on a 6-1 vote amendments to LB1303 which would appropriate more than $11 million in state general fund money for highways, roads and streets during the coming biennium.

The revised distribution formula was accepted on a 6-2 vote, and LB1303 then won its way to the floor on a 6-0 count.

Distribution Formula

As drafted, the bill proposed the following distribution of funds: 53 1/3% to the state, and 23 1/3% each to the cities and to the counties.

Under the amended version of the bill, counties would receive more of the non-state funds until 1974.

In 1970 and 1971, counties would receive 25 1/3% while cities would be allocated 21 1/3%.

In 1972 and 1973, counties would get 24 1/3% and cities 22 1/3%.

Then, in 1974 and thereafter, the recommended 23 1/3% split would become effective.

Current sharing of highway revenue, under a number of complicated allotments, gives the state about 53%, the counties about 36% and the cities some 11%.

Recommended Shares

Professional consultants who advised the legislative highway study committee had recommended 60% sharing for the state, 22% for the cities, and 18% for the counties.

The state general fund appropriation proposed by the committee would include $3.5 million a year as the non-user share of road costs, and $2,750,000 annually representing estimated sales tax revenue collected from the sale of new and used automobiles.

The allocation of those funds for fiscal 1969-71 was tagged at $9,375,000, since the appropriation would only cover the last three-fourths of the biennium, beginning Jan. 1, 1970.

Recreation Roads

An additional $1,734,600 would be appropriated for the full biennium for the state recreation road fund.

Here is what the revised distribution formula would allocate to governmental subdivisions, assuming enactment of all proposed highway revenue bills:

1970: counties, $23,205,993; cities, $19,429,327.

1971: counties, $23,695,736; cities, $19,841,732.

1972: counties, $23,115,713; cities, $21,126,695.

1973: counties, $23,508,740; cities, $21,487,414.

In 1974, cities and counties would split more than $44 million equally.

Here is how the revised formula would affect Lincoln and Omaha, and their two counties:

Lincoln: $894,211 actual revenue in 1967; $2,598,086 in 1970 under the original 23 1/3% recommendation; $2,371,516 under the revised 21 1/3% division.

Omaha: $2,795,175 in 1967; $5,914,888 under the original recommendation; $5,399,071 under the revised allocation.

Lancaster County: $1,157,906 in 1967; $1,130,490 in 1970 under the original 23 1/3% recommendation; $1,228,783 under the revised 25 1/3% division.

Douglas County: $1,388,707 in 1967; $2,015,082 under the original recommendation; $2,190,187 under the revised allocation.

Senators Send Riot Bill To Floor Of Unicameral

The Legislature's Committee on Government and Military Affairs Wednesday sent to the floor a bill calling for felony convictions and heavy fines for persons participating in riots.

The bill, a completely revamped version of LB1381, sets down definitions to distinguish rioting from similar offenses, and differentiates between assaults and assaults of emergency personnel.

If adopted, the bill would be the state's first disorderly conduct law and would drastically revise present riot statutes.

The committee gave the bill a 7-0 vote of approval on its way to general file.

Disorderly Conduct

Under the measure, a rioter would have to participate in "a course of disorderly conduct" intending to commit a misdemeanor or a felony, or intending to prevent or coerce official action, or use or plan to use a deadly weapon.

A riot conviction would be a felony, punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment of not more than six months.

Convictions of disorderly conduct, failure to disperse on the order of officials and unlawful assembly would draw stiff, but comparatively lighter, sentences.

The bill also sets down procedures by which states of emergency could be proclaimed and restrictions enforced.

Campus Riots

In a section obviously aimed at campus rioting, the bill would make it a misdemeanor to restrict "lawful freedom of movement on campus" or to occupy campus buildings and refuse to leave.

Such violations would be punishable by a fine of $500 or less and six months imprisonment.

The committee also advanced six other bills, and reconsidered its previous approval and decided to kill another LB1060. LB1060 would have added Hall and Merrick Counties to Judicial District No. 11 and authorized the addition of another district judge in the district.

Other bills advanced:

—LB1320, setting up a bureau of transportation services for state agencies within the Department of Administrative Services.

—LB1398, creating a state office of planning and programming.

—LB1399, allowing first and second class cities to secure urban renewal services through the Department of Economic Development.

—LB1405, requiring cities and villages to file an annual audit with the state auditor.

—LB1410, allowing the county surveyor in Lancaster and Douglas Counties to be either a registered surveyor or a professional engineer.

—LB1165, transferring from the state auditor to the Department of Administrative Services the duty of establishing a uniform system of accounting for county officers.

Censure Motion Remains Stalled In Ed Committee

The Unicameral's Education Committee again failed to act Wednesday on a resolution to censure five of the eight members of the State Board of Education.

Motions to both kill and advance the resolution were made and then withdrawn after one of the members of the Education Committee said action on the resolution should not be taken until all the members of the committee were present.

Committee members Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox and Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove are both in Washington to confer with the U.S. Agriculture Department regarding recent policy changes in the feed grains sealing program.

The resolution to censure the board has been pending in the committee ever since plans to fire former State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller were made public in April.

On another matter, the committee sent to the floor, on a 6-0 vote, LB1418 to authorize Class II (small town) and Class VI (rural high school) school districts to borrow money without having to issue registered warrants.

A brief public hearing on the bill produced no opposition.

Miller Claims Burkhardt 'Straining For Gnats' To Justify Dismissal

Former State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller Wednesday said Allen Burkhardt, president of the state board, was "straining at gnats" in a series of allegations which Burkhardt said justified the dismissal of Miller.

"Dr. Burkhardt and I have never agreed as to the important and necessary distinction between the policy-making role of a board and the administrative role of a commissioner," Miller noted.

"If one accepts his interpretation, then very definitely we have not furnished him 'sufficient' information. In fact, there would be no way to determine just how much is enough."

Miller said he believes that "the only justifiable reason for a state lay board of education to exist is found in its playing a strong supportive role which insulates the professional staff sufficiently so it may work without fear or favor toward excellence in education for all persons."

As for Burkhardt's list of allegations, supported by four other members of the State Board of Education, Miller said:

"I point out that apart from the incredible situation which denied the accused any opportunity to defend himself, there is not a single issue which couldn't have been resolved in a matter of minutes if the majority of the governing board had had any desire whatsoever to do so."

Miller responded to Burkhardt's charges in a 10-page statement released to the press. The former commissioner was fired by a 5-3 vote of board members last week.

A number of the allegations merely involved Burkhardt's desire to involve himself in "administrative detail," Miller said.

As commissioner, he had "long wanted a positive, cooperative, effective type of involvement" of the board in budgetary matters, but that was difficult to secure from busy board members, Miller noted.

The basic problem in budgeting, which Burkhardt had criticized, is "the urgency of meeting time requirements," Miller pointed out.

"In an operation involving a biennial budget of over $81 million, I continue to wonder how in one monthly meeting of a few hours any board member would have either the courage or the expertise to want to participate in administrative matters," the former commissioner said.

Miller reiterated his support for the Great Plains Report on school reorganization, another of Burkhardt's objections.

"In the next decade or two, the provisions of this report will be considered as much too conservative," Miller predicted.

As for the allegations that he violated board policy, Miller declared: "I have followed board policy better than the board itself has . . . I admit to less than enthusiastic support for certain recent attitudes and procedures."

Soshnik Praises NU School In Speech To Curtis Grads

Curtis — Student response and performance of its graduates testifies to the "high quality and genuine relevance of the educational experiences provided by the School of Technical Agriculture," University of Nebraska President Joseph Soshnik told the 59 graduates here Wednesday.

Graduates of the NU technical school are "among the pioneers in this new program in agriculture education," Soshnik said.

"It is this kind of educational innovation which the university is committed to pursue with diligence as it enters its second century of service to Nebraska," he said.

The NU president of Lincoln campuses and outstate activities noted that it was in the early 1960s that Nebraskans "recognized more keenly than ever the need for agriculture education beyond the high school level to provide technically trained people for a burgeoning agribusiness industry."

After three years of operation, the school has "deomonstrated its value to the people who made it possible and to those who have taken advantage of the opportunities it provides," he said.

AAL Scholarships To 3 Nebraskans

Three Nebraska high school students have been awarded four-year scholarships by the Aid Association for Lutherans, a life insurance society.

The three are Gary L. Papke of Lincoln, Diane L. Mohr of Roca and Edward Everts of Grafton. Papke's grant was $7,000 and the other two totaled $800 each.

Almost 3,000 students competed across the nation for the scholarships. The association gives out 100 such grants annually.

Ceremonies On Wednesday

The chancel of the First Presbyterian Church at Humboldt, was lighted by clusters of white candles on Wednesday evening, June 4, for the marriage of Miss Kay Elaine Sherburne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sherburne of Humboldt, to David E. Knorr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erich Knorr of Utica. The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock.

Frocked in floor-length sheaths of georgette over silk in the maize tone were Miss Gretchen Schudel of Grand Island, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Lark Renz of Walla Walla, Wash., and Miss Joan Knorr, Utica. Each carried a single white rose.

Ivan Wellman of Lincoln, served Mr. Knorr as best man, and seating the guests were Terry Hafer and Larry Olson, Lincoln. The groomsmen were Kent Sherburne and Don Knorr.

Scalloped edging of peau d'ange lace trimmed the bride's gown of white silk organza. The high-waisted basque was designed with a crescent neckline and above-elbow sleeves edged with lace, and the slender skirt was completed by a redingote of lace-bordered organza which continued into an aisle-wide train. Her illusion veil was held by a cluster of organza roses dotted with pearls, and she carried an arrangement of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Knorr will live in Lincoln, where both are senior students at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a graduate of Stephens College at Columbia, Mo.

Bouquets of chrysanthemums and daisies in white and yellow decorated the chancel of the Bethany Christian Church on Wednesday evening, June 4, for the wedding of Miss Pamela Sue Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Lewis, and Ronald L. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Williams. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Carl A. Burkhart, and Mrs. Charles Hoffman, organist, played the wedding music. The vocal soloist was Mrs. Larry Price.

Miss Jennifer Ziegenbein of Ashland, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Janice Torell and Mrs. Marvin Conaway, wore frocks of mint green sheer over taffeta fashioned in the cage mode. They each carried a single, large yellow chrysanthemum.

Serving his brother as best man was Bob Williams, and the groomsmen were Keith Ziegenbein of Ashland, Bob Elliot and Marvin Conaway.

Designed in the skimmer silhouette, the bride's gown of white sheer was trimmed with Venise lace in a daisy motif. The lace edged the long sleeves and high throatline, and continued in an appliqued panel to the hem of the skirt, which was complemented by a cotillion train. Her lace-bordered veil was held by a cluster of fabric loops, and she carried a bouquet of white daisies and stephanotis.

The bridegroom currently is serving with the Navy and is assigned to the USS Dennis J. Buckley at San Diego, Calif.

Meadow Lane
Wedgewood Manor
Hollywood Heights
Happy Hollow

After a long cold winter, summer finally has reached the Lincoln area and Lincoln residents could hardly wait to take advantage of the warm weather and sunny skies. As everyone knows the first few weeks of summer are always a hectic time as children begin their summer vacations, travel plans are made, and out of town guests drop in. But as busy as these weeks are, suburban dwellers still have found time to participate in numerous activities.

Taking advantage of the nice weather last weekend, for example, were Wedgewood Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Duane Schwetzer and their family. On Thursday the Schwetzer family and a large group of friends got together for their annual Memorial Day picnic at Pioneers Park.

For the past several weeks residents of Hollywood Heights probably have noticed an unusual amount of hustling and bustling around the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Killion Sr. The cause of all of the excitement was the June 1st wedding of the Killions' grandson, Paul W. Killion III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Killion Jr., to Connie Prell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Prell.

The festivities began on May 23 when Mrs. Killion attended a miscellaneous shower for Connie. The shower, which was held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Manley, was hostessed by Mrs. Manley and her daughter Nancy. Guests included Mrs. Clifford Prell, the bride's mother; Mrs. Edmund Quincy, the bride's grandmother; Miss Diane Witte and Mrs. Marilyn Mackevicios.

Mr. and Mrs. Killion had a full house for the wedding, and the out of town guests began to arrive on Thursday. Those staying at the Killion home were the bridegroom's parents, Mr.and Mrs. Paul W. Killion Jr., and their daughters Pamela, Patricia, and Polly, all of Big Springs. Also a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Killion was Phil W. Killion, the bridegroom's brother, who had just finished basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

On Friday evening following the wedding rehearsal an outdoor reception was held the bridal party and the families at the Killion home.

The week-long activities came to an end on Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Killion Sr. entertained at a small dinner party. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Prell, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Killion and son Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Quincy.

Mrs. Charles Homolka entertained guests at her Meadow Lane home Monday when she was hostess at a baby shower in honor of Mrs. Robert Berryman. The shower, which was co-hostessed by Mrs. Berryman's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edwin Berryman, had a special surprise guest when Mrs. Wilber Hansen arrived from Hillsdale, Wyo. Mrs. Hansen is Mrs. Berryman's mother.

The Happy Hollow home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawrence was busy over Memorial Day when Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abels and their three children Ben, Steven, and Chris arrived from Storm Lake, Iowa. The Abels spent Memorial Day weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and returned to Storm Lake on Sunday evening.

The guests will include the members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests for the wedding of Miss Schultz and Mr. Wilcox, which will take place Saturday evening.

Miss Schultz, who has been honored at numerous courtesies in the last few weeks, was hostess to the feminine members of her bridal party last Sunday at a buffet supper at her home.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-elect recently when Miss Sally Wylder of Davey, Miss Rosemarie Weber and Miss Cecelia Griffitts entertained former high school classmates of Miss Schultz at the home of Miss Griffitts.

The bride-elect's Alpha Chi Omega sorority sisters presented her with a crystal shower at a luncheon for which Miss Jeanne Baer of York, and Miss Cece Corn of Omaha, were hostesses at the University Club.

Miss Schultz and Mr. Wilcox shared honors recently at a neighborhood party and a one-gift shower held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. I. Fuenning.

To be honored at a prenuptial courtesy on Thursday evening will be Miss Kathryn Sue Hellweg and her fiance, Bruce Edward Raymer, whose marriage will be an event of Saturday, June 7.

Entertaining at dinner to honor the couple will be Mrs. Harold Hellweg and Mrs. John Hellweg who will be hostesses.

Abby: pay no attention to sister's look

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every time my wife and I go to visit a friend or relative, my wife thinks she has to bring a little gift for the children. I think it's a nice idea when the children are appreciative, but I put my foot down when it comes to a certain family.

My wife's sister married very well and she has three spoiled, selfish children, under ten years of age. No matter what we bring them (and my wife always spends a little more on them just to make a good impression) it is received with, "Oh, is that ALL?" Or, "I have one just like it."

I told my wife that from now on, we'll bring those children nothing. She says she agrees, they don't deserve anything, but if she came empty-handed her sister would look at her funny. What would you do?

TILLIE'S HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: I would let my sister look at me any way she wished, and would discontinue bringing gifts to ungrateful children.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a guy I'll call Willie. I'm 19 and Willie is 22. I enjoy talking about things like what kind of a house we are going to live in, how many children we will have, and things like that. I suppose talk like this is sort of premature because we aren't officially engaged yet.

To be perfectly honest, I guess I do most of the talking because Willie is the quiet type. Is it wrong to talk like that or not?

LIKES WILLIE

DEAR LIKES: It's not "wrong" — but it's not very smart. I am reminded of an old recipe for rabbit stew. First catch the rabbit.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope...

Bridge: defensive tactics

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 NT	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

One of the basic principles of defense is that you do not credit declarer with a hand that automatically gives him the contract. Instead you work on the premise that the contract can be defeated. You try to find a weak spot that is consistent with the bidding, and you exploit that assumed weakness in an effort to beat the contract.

Take this hand where South is in four spades and West leads the queen of hearts. Declarer wins with the king and draws three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy.

He next plays the three of clubs and loses the jack to West's queen. What should West play now?

Actually, there is only one card he can lead at this point to defeat the contract. That card is the jack of diamonds.

If he leads it, South goes down one; if he leads any other card, South makes the contract.

The jack is the killing return because declarer cannot now avoid the loss of three diamond tricks, whether he covers with dummy's queen or not. But if West leads the ace of diamonds or a low diamond in attacking the suit, South can escape with only two diamond losers and so make the contract.

When West takes the queen of clubs, he can count declarer for five trump tricks, the A-K of hearts and ace of clubs. Furthermore, it is obvious that South took a club finesse with a holding that included the K-J. This brings declarer to nine tricks.

If West also credits South with the king of diamonds, he might just as well fold up his cards and concede the contract. He should assume, instead, that East has the king of diamonds and lead the jack as the one and only hope of capturing three diamond tricks and putting declarer down one.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Elder Angered By Racial Baiting On Pro Tour

. . . NEGRO GOLFER WILL SKIP TOURNEYS UNLESS CONDITIONS IMPROVE

Washington (AP) — Lee Elder, one of the few Negroes on the pro golf tour, says he will begin skipping tournaments next year because of racial baiting by the galleries.

First, said the 32-year-old Dallas-born Elder, he will never again play in the Pensacola Open in Florida, held the end of March.

Then, he will take a reading on several other tournaments next winter in California, Florida and Tennessee and, he said, if conditions haven't improved; he will drop them from his schedule.

"Trings have got better in some places on the tour," Elder said in an interview. "But there are three or four tournaments where I just can't play.

"I'm tired of being called Nigger or Black Boy," he said. "It's just come to a head. I haven't said anything about this before but I feel I've held it underneath long enough and believe it should be brought out in tre open."

Elder, who calls the nation's capital his home, made his comments after qualifying for the U.S. Open at the Bethesda Country Club in nearby Maryland.

"It's very difficult for a Negro to play on the tour," he said. "It's only me but the others feel the same pressures from galleries. It's very hard to concentrate when you hear some of the comments.

There are 10 Negroes who are regulars on the tour including Charlie Sifford and his nephew, Curtis Sifford; the Browns —Pete, Cliff and Howard — who are not related, and George Johnson.

"They all get the same treatment," said Elder, who spent 10 years on the All-Negro golf circuit before joining the pro tour a little more than two years ago.

Elder said he was reluctant to name the tournaments where he has received the treatment, except for Pensacola because he plans to play in them at least one more time.

"I make my living from golf, so I play in about 30 tournaments a year," he said. "I like to go for those $100,000 tournaments but it's just too much in Pensacola so I'm going to pass it up. The money just isn't worth it.

Oddly enough, Elder said, "some of the places I dread going to, I play really well."

He wouldn't identify the tournaments in Tennessee but Elder finished second, earning $17,500, in the Memphis Open last weekend.

During the tournament, he reported an incident but said it wasn't racially inspired. He said some youngsters picked up his ball and threw it away. He got a ruling and was allowed a free drop.

"Trere were some people in the gallery who said I didn't deserve a free drop," he said. "But Terry Dill saw the whole thing and the ruling stood."

WIN, LOSS STREAKS INTACT

King Got Warning From Clay

Houston (UPI) — U.S. Government agents heard former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay warn the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to "watch out for them whities," it was disclosed Wednesday in Federal District Court.

Short summaries of the Sept. 4, 1964, Clay-King conversation and of three secret wire-tapped conversations Clay had with Black Muslim leaders were read over government objections in a court hearing.

There was no indication Clay had anything specific in mind when he admonished King to be careful. King was assassinated by James Earl Ray in Memphis, April 4, 1968, almost four years later.

King was the person being monitored at the time of the telephone call. At no time in the four wire-tapped conversations submitted in court was Clay the principal person being monitored.

The conversation in question was among King, Clay and Chauncey Eskridge, who at one time was an attorney for both men. Eskridge, one of Clay's attorneys in the current hearing, said he never knew he had been monitored before Wednesday's hearing.

"The next time I make a phone call I'm going to say, 'Mr. (FBI Chief J. Edgar) Hoover, will you please get off the line so I can talk awhile,' " Eskridge said.

Rejecting Clay's defense that he refused to be drafted for military service because he is a Black Muslim minister, a federal district court jury in Houston found Clay guilty in June, 1967, of draft evasion.

His defense lawyers are trying to keep him from serving a five-year prison sentence and payment of a $10,000 fine.

Their current effort is based on a contention that the government illegally used wiretap evidence in prosecuting Clay.

Expos' Defeat 18th Straight

. . . RECORD FAILURE

By Associated Press

The Montreal Expos lost their 18th straight game Wednesday, but the New York Mets, the San Diego Padres and the Chicago Cubs continued their winning ways in major league baseball.

The Expos suffered their defeat when San Francisco exploded for five runs with two out in the fourth inning and went on to beat Montreal, 8-5.

The Expos' losing streak is the longest ever by a major league expansion club. The old mark of 17 was established by the New York Mets in 1962. The modern major league standard is 23 by the 1961 Philadelphia Phillies.

The expansion San Diego Padres were a different story as they extended their team record winning streak to six games, beating Philadelphia 3-0 as Dick Kelley and two relievers combined for a four-hitter and Kelley stroked a two-run double.

Tommie Agee raced home from first base in the 15th inning when Wayne Garrett's single to center zipped past Willie Davis for an error, giving the New York Mets a 1-0 victory over Los Angeles that extended their winning streak to seven games.

That matched the longest winning streak in the Mets' history.

The Chicago Cubs also had a good day, stretching their win streak to six games as Randy Hundley homered with two aboard to key a four-run fourth inning that lifted the Cubs past the Houston Astros, 5-4.

Ernie Banks hit a solo homer, his eighth, in the second inning off rookie Tom Griffin and also singled home a run in the fourth.

Johnny Bench's single ignited a three-run ninth inning rally that carried the Cincinnati Reds past Pittsburgh 5-3 for their 11th victory in 12 games.

Vada Pinson's eighth-inning single, following a single by Lou Brock and a stolen base, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over Atlanta.

The Braves loaded the bases in the ninth on singles by Felix Millan and Bob Aspromonte and a walk to pinch hitter Tommie Aaron before pinch hitter Clete Boyer struck out.

Bob Gibson, winning his seventh game with a seven-hitter, was rolling along with a 2-0 lead until the Braves broke through for three runs in the fifth and Rico Carty's double, Millan's triple and singles by Aspromonte and Mike Lum.

In the American League rookies Ed Herrmann and Gail Hopkins and veteran Bobby Knoop accounted for six Chicago runs with homers as the White Sox defeated the Boston Red Sox 7-2 behind the strong pitching of southpaw Tommy John.

Frank Howard's double set off a two-run Washington rally in the sixth inning, giving Joe Coleman the margin he needed to pitch the Senators to a 3-1 victory over Kansas City.

Ron Perranoski saved his 13th game in relief and Rod Carew stole home for the fifth time this season as the Minnesta Twins topped the New York Yankees 4-2.

Don Buford belted the first pitch of the game over the right field fence and triggered a three-homer attack that carried the red-hot Baltimore Orioles to a 6-1 victory over Oakland.

The win was the Orioles' 15th in their last 18 games and fifth in a row without defeat over Oakland this season.

U.S. Gals Outgunned In Paris

Paris (AP) — Steady hitting from the baseline sent the two American professionals, Mrs. Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals, tumbling out of the women's singles in the French Open tennis championships Wednesday.

Mrs. Lesley Bowrey of Australia, outgunned Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif, 6-3, 6-3. Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain outclassed Miss Casals of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-0.

So only Nancy Richey of Dallas, the defending champion, was left to carry United States hopes in the semifinals. She will meet Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia while Mrs. Bowrey and Mrs. Jones are paired in the other bracket.

All four semifinalists have won this title before.

The Romanians, Ilie Nastse and Ion Tiriac, pulled off a big upset in the men's doubles by hammering the Australian professionals Ken Rosewall and Fred Stolle 6-4, 6-1, 7-5.

The story of American failure continued when the Davis Cup pair, Arthur Ashe of Green Springs, Va., and Charlie Pasarell of Santurce, P. R., lost 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, 3-6, to John Newcombe and Tony Roche of Australia in the quarter-finals of the men's doubles.

Ashe has been having an unhappy time on his European tour. But he had his moments Wednesday, breaking Roche's service in the second set with two brilliant backhand cross court shots.

The men's singles semifinals are scheduled for today: Rod Laver of Australia meeting Tom Okker of The Netherlands and Ken Rosewall of Australia taking on Roche.

Joe Frazier 'Fed Up' With 'Phony' Cassius

New York (AP) — Joe Frazier, admitting that some of Cassius Clay's remarks had irked him, took a couple of long distance pokes at the former heavyweight champion Wednesday. He called Clay "a big mouth phony" and "a disgrace."

"I think the public is fed up with all his fussin' and fumin'," said Frazier at his upstate training camp where he is preparing to defend his six-state piece of the world heavyweight title against Jerry Quarry of Bellflower, Calif., at Madison Square Garden, June 23.

"All this hollerin' he's doing about not wanting to fight is just a defense," said Frazier. "He knows I can beat him . . . knock him out. I'd like to button his big mouth once and for all, knock him out and get rid of him. I think the public is fed up with his fussin' and fumin.'

"What kind of a man is this who don't want to fight for his country? If he was in Russia, or some place else, they'd put him up against the wall. He walks around like he's one kind of a big hero but he's just a phony, a disgrace.

"Clay's day is all over. I just don't call anybody a name, but I just had enough of that big phony. Everybody wants to say what I'm saying. Some people can't but I can. It's about time somebody took off on that loud mouth.

"I'm getting awfully tired of him. Everywhere I go people say 'when you gonna fight Cassius Clay?' Or 'when you gonna fight Muhammad Ali'? What's this Muhammad Ali and that X stuff he talks about. I don't know what's he's talking about and I don't think he does either.

"I don't want to fight him with that name, either. If he walks into the ring with me, you can be sure the announcer will call him Cassius Clay, the name he was born with."

The 25-year-old father of four made some of the remarks in a conversation with Yank Durham, his trainer and advisor, and John F. X. Condon, the Garden's boxing publicity director, in the lobby of the Hotel Concord at Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., Tuesday night.

Condon, with the approval of Frazier and Durham, released the details of the conversation.

Asked to confirm the comments, Frazier told the Associated Press by telephone "it's what I said all right." He made some additional comments.

"I'm getting awful tired of him and hearing about him," added Frazier. "I just hope they turn him loose so I can get at him."

Clay, who prefers to be called Muhammed Ali, is appealing a five-year conviction for refusing induction into the military service.

Whited Rides 3 Ak-Sar-Ben Winners

Omaha — D. W. Whited brought home three winners at Ak-Sar-Ben Wednesday and L. J. Drousseau piloted On Hand to a 1:09 clocking for six furlongs in the second race, only two-fifths of a second off the track record, but the $36.40 daily double payoff was the second lowest of the Omaha race season.

Whited had winners in Jeanie Kem in the fifth race, Princess Khal in the seventh and Bold D-Or in the eighth, the second time this year he has brought home three or more winners at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Broad Miss returned $13.80 to win in the first race and On Hand was $5.40 in the second, but the daily double pool still could not return more than $36.40. The lowest-paying combination at Ak this year was $27.60.

'Rural Areas Assured Equal Service'

"Rural areas will be assured equal or better service than they receive today" under the proposed reorganization of the U.S. postal service, Nebraska postmasters were assured Wednesday.

"The Post Office Department is not going to neglect this important phase of responsibility to rural citizens," R. E. James, consultant and acting director of the Wichita postal region, declared at the annual convention of the Nebraska chapter of National Association of Postmasters here.

In remarks to some 250 state postmasters and during an interview later, James pointed out that "there are several ways of serving rural areas."

Better Service

He noted that patrons can be provided "equal or better service" by such procedures as rural route delivery or by using the star route concept.

The reorganization process to improve postal service may involve closing some small post offices, he indicated. Establishing any new offices seems unlikely, he added.

James is an official of the Boeing Co. in Wichita taking a leave of absence to serve as one of 15 "expert consultants" appointed by Postmaster General W. M. Blount to make recommendations for improving the postal service based on industrial and business backgrounds.

Until regional directors are appointed, James also is serving in that position for the Wichita region, which includes Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

100 Recommendations

On the job for about 75 days, James said he has submitted about 100 recommendations to the Post Office Department concerning removal of some regulations and changes in policies to allow postmasters to operate with increased responsibility and authority.

After asking for suggestions from postal employes, James reported that he had received some 3,000 recommendations, primarily dealing with local or system problems.

James indicated that some of his suggestions have already been implemented; others are covered in the proposed reform bill now in Congress.

'End Draft'

Washington (UPI) — Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., and eight other House members introduced a resolution calling for suspension of the draft for six months to express a determination of Congress to withdraw all troops from Vietnam.

Lindner Named Chief Of Criminal Matters

Lincoln City Attorney Norman Krivosha announced Wednesday that Jack Lindner, deputy city attorney, will serve as chief administrative officer on criminal matters.

Krivosha had recently announced a reorganization of the law department in which a chief assistant would be named to handle civil matters and another named to handle criminal matters.

The chief assistant's duty will be to oversee the workload of his particular division.

Dick Wood was recently named as chief assistant for civil matters.

Krivosha said Lindner would keep his present duties as deputy city attorney.

"Although Wood deals only in the internal workload, Lindner will have external responsibilities as well," the city attorney explained.

"I am not contemplating now appointing a chief assistant for criminal matters, in view of the fact that Lindner will be handling the duties involved," Krivosha said.

Lindner has previously served the city as chief prosecutor.

Beckman Among Grads

Five students from Nebraska, including one Lincolnite, will receive bachelor of arts degrees from Yale University at graduation exercises Monday. The students are David M. Beckmann of 3425 L, Thomas E. Craft of North Platte and Robert W. Bucholz, Thomas R. Hood and Gregory E. Montes, all of Omaha.

Lincoln church news is carried on a special page in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Chile Asks Rockefeller To Cancel Visit There

Santiago (AP) — The government announced Wednesday it would be "inconvenient" for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to visit Chile as part of a fact-finding mission for President Nixon.

It was the third Latin American country to ask Rockefeller to cancel the second portion of his trip because of student unrest and other opposition.

Venezuela and Peru told Rockefeller he wasn't welcome after the first leg of his Latin American tour caused 10 deaths and violent rioting in Ecuador, Colombia and Honduras.

A terse foreign ministry communique said: "The Chilean government has informed Gov. Rockefeller of the convenience of suspending his visit to our country." It added that Chile's foreign minister, Gabriel Valdes, is due in Washington this week and will call on Nixon.

The communique said Valdes also will get together with Rockefeller in the United States to discuss "the purposes and objectives" of Rockefeller's visit to Chile.

Sergeant Sent To War Zone After Protest

Washington (AP) — The Army said Wednesday Sgt. Michael Sanders, who criticized U.S. involvement in Vietnam, must go to the war zone because he is physically qualified and hasn't been there before.

The Army denied the 22-year-old Kentuckian's protest that he was being banished to the war because of something he said.

Sanders's orders to Vietnam had been delayed after Kentucky Republican Sens. John Sherman Cooper and Marlow W. Cook wondered whether the sergeant was being sent to Vietnam for something he told a Louisville newspaper.

Sanders, until recently a member of the elite Army unit which guards the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, told the Louisville Courier-Journal in February he was "very much opposed to our Vietnam involvement."

Aircraft Bombs Haitian Palace

Port au Prince, Haiti (AP) — A four-engine Constellation aircraft, reportedly flown from Cuba, dropped fire bombs Wednesday over President Francois Duvalier's presidential palace.

At least one of six bombs landed in the palace courtyard, but caused little damage. Elsewhere one person was said to have been killed when a bomb landed on a hut about a half mile from the palace.

ACTION LINE

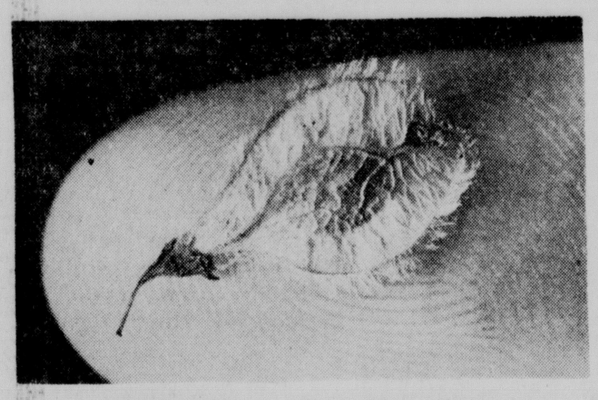
Dial 477-2121 or Write P.O. Box 1547 Lincoln, Nebraska 68501

Want a question answered? Action on something? Phone or write your request to ACTION LINE, The Lincoln Star or Sunday Journal and Star (see address above), giving your name or initials and town and specifying daily Star or Sunday. Personal contacts or telephone calls to other numbers will be refused. Inquiries not answered daily or Sunday within 30 days will be eliminated to permit publication of more recent inquiries.

I understand the law that makes a state senator immune from arrest, but is there a law about telling his name? Why have you not printed the name?—Mrs. O.R.L., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The identities of the two persons involved are not officially known.

Give the reason why the elm tree seeds are so much in abaundance this year. My drain spouts can't stand much more. —D.H., Lincoln



ELM SEED . . . finger shows size.

ACTION LINE: You will just have to clean out those spouts more often. City Forester Emilo Fontana says this is part of a normal cycle as every set number of years, certain tree species will have a heavy seeding year and this happens to be the year for the elm.

Over a year ago we ordered some dishes from Mid-American Sales Co. after repeated inquiries, we received on April 13, 1968 the last letter from the company saying they would check with the post office. Help.
—Mrs. Ralph Bowmaster, Seward

ACTION LINE: Please send to the president of the company, R. H. Jura Sr. in North Olmsted, Ohio, notice of the exact amount you paid. A refund check will be forthcoming.

What is the law about leaving an old car, unmoved for weeks in front of a residence on a narrow street with lots of traffic. The owner keeps his good car in his garage.
—C.K., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: City Ordinance 10.28.230: "It shall be unlawful for any person to park any vehicle or to permit such vehicle to stand on one side of a street within a block for a period longer than 24 hours." There are several city ordinances pertaining to abandoned vehicles, too. Phone the Lincoln Police Department and register a complaint.

Some family members in California received an incoherent letter from my cousin-in-law in a Vietnam hospital. His wife can't find out anything even through Red Cross. Can you seep up things? —D.E., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Such information is available only to next of kin — in this case, the wife. She should again go through the Red Cross in her home town remembering the information may be hard to obtain at this early date since your relatives only received the letter May 19.

Every night about 8:30 p.m. our television becomes a screen of snow, making it impossible to watch. I cannot remember what you suggested to correct this.
—Mrs. J.G., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Consult a television repairman for possible technical difficulties. Ask the repairman about a filter which will eliminate outside interference if the set has no technical problems.

Why are city owned tractors not required to have reflectors that must be visible on all slow-moving vehicles? I refer to a yellow mower being pulled by a John Deere tractor recently on Van Dorn Street. —G.K., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: A reflectorized safety device is installed on all slow-moving (25 mph or less) vehicles operated by the City Park Department according to superintendent Don Smith. If there are some vehicles not so equipped, they will have the reflectors by the end of the week, since in some cases, Smith noted, vehicles in use could have come in contact with tree branches that knocked off the reflectors. In any case, Park Department mowers are either red or gray and mowers operated by the City Street Department are orange. Also, says Lloyd Bomberger, street department superintendent: "All our slow moving vehicles have safety reflectors." This leaves the alternative that the vehicle you observed is privately owned, since the State Roads Department also uses orange colored vehicles and verifies they all have reflectorized emblems.

I recently bought a bike second hand and was told I don't need to get a new bike license as long as I had a title and could show I was the owner. How about this? —Wheeler-dealer, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: False. City Ordinance 10.64.070 says: "It shall be the duty of every person who sells or transfers ownership of any registered bicycle to report, within five days from the date of sale or transfer, such sale or transfer by returning to the Police Department the registration certificate therefor, together with the registration number plate and the name and address of the person to whom said bicycle was sold or transferred; provided however, the holder of such registration certificate may have the Police Department assign such registration number plate to another bicycle owned by him without charge therefor. It shall be the duty of the purchaser or transferee of such bicycle to apply for a transfer or registration thereof within five days of sale or transfer."

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a heath tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Pain relievers are one of the most important causes of accidental poisoning of children. If a small child suddenly begins deep breathing or vomiting or seems lethargic and confused, he may have swallowed too many aspirin tablets.

The first and most important step is to take the child to a doctor immediately. Do not give baking soda or other home remedies. Soda may speed the body's absorption of the poison.

The best way to prevent poisoning is to keep all medicines in a locked or out-of-reach cabinet. Keep in mind that an adult-size aspirin contains 10 times the dosage of baby aspirin and more than three times the dosage of so-called children's aspirin.

Never give a small child a pain reliever except under a physician's direction.

Dentistry Students' Study Plans Told

Market Crumbles After Brief Climb

New York (AP) — The stock market — on a downhill course for more than two weeks — failed Wednesday in an attempt to rally on flickering hopes of a start in the unilateral reduction of U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

An unconfirmed published report that announcement of such action might emerge from next Sunday's meeting of President Nixon and South Vietnam President Thieu sparked a brief advance in early trading.

But it was a flimsy foundation and the market started crumbling around mid-day.

The biggest single development on the New York Stock Exchange was the reopening of trading in Standard Oil, Ohio for the first time since Monday, when it had announced plans to merge with B P Oil Corp., U.S. subsidiary of British Petroleum.

On the first transaction Ohio Standard soared 29¾ to 100 on 175,000 shares. It closed with a gain of 25 at 95¼ on total volume of 194,500 shares. British Petroleum declined ⅜ to 19¾ on total volume of 222,200 shares on the American Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones average closed with a loss of 1.94 at 928.74 after having been ahead 1.48 at the end of the first hour of trading. The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped .5 to 330.9 with industrials off .9, rails off .3 and utilities unchanged.

Of 1,587 issues traded on the Big Board, 733 declined and 597 advanced. New 1969 lows outnumbered new highs 137 to 26.

Volume fell to 10.84 million shares from 11.19 million Tuesday.

Canadian Breweries, which has been actively traded since Philip Morris increased its offer for about 50% of the brewer's stock, topped the Big Board's most active list, off ⅛ at 13 on 222,600 shares.

Oils again were the star performers. They took 8 of the 20 places on the Big Board's most active list and 13 on the Amex list.

Motors, utilities, nonferrous metals and rails were mostly lower. Aircrafts and rubbers advanced.

Prices dipped on the American Stock Exchange, whose index slipped 4 cents to $30.75. Volume of 6.6 million shares compared with 7.42 million Tuesday.

Meat Trade Is Slipping At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Continued light marketings of cattle in the midlands failed to deter a buying side which came upon the barricades Wednesday ready for action.

Actually, the first warnings were apparent Tuesday afternoon as the market lost an opening surge and closed weak. Cost-conscious buyers, began backing down around midday as word came over two-way radios that the meat trade was slipping. And slip it did gathering momentum into Wednesday's initial go-round.

Live trade was slow throughout Wednesday's session, but the tone was established. Values on fed steers and heifers were pushed 25 cents to mostly 50 cents lower as of midday.

Top-grading cattle took the brunt of the setback as some consumer resistance to advancing retail meat prices forced chain buyers to pare bids at wholesale. "T-bone steaks are great up to a certain price level with most consumers," one market man observed, "but hamburger and roasts always move."

Butcher hogs under 240 lbs. were in the forefront of a steady to 25-cent higher market. However, on late rounds, heavier weight butchers turned in a weak to 25 lower direction, along with sows.

Backgrounding the uneven trade was a decline in wholesale pork prices. Marketing remained relatively moderate.

Active Buying Boosts Wheat

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, stimulated by active buying based on reports of a slowdown in harvesting of winter wheat in the Southwest because of wet fields.

The advance was trimmed a fraction at the close. It was the strongest buying surge in the wheat pit in nearly two weeks.

Trade in most pits, however, was orderly active.

At the close, wheat was up to 1⅜ cents a bushel higher, July 1.30¼; corn was ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, July 1.29¾; oats were unchanged to ⅜ higher, July 62¼ cents; rye was ¾ to 1¼ higher, July 1.19½; and soybeans were ½ lower to ⅛ higher, July 2.66⅜.

Israelis Expect More War, But Express Little Concern

© New York Times Service

By JAMES FERON

Jerusalem — Two years after the Six-Day War, Israelis seem in a buoyant mood, aware that their confrontation with the Arabs will continue but confident that they are in no danger.

Many of the nagging doubts and preoccupations that were prevalent here a year ago, on the first anniversary of the war, seem to have been dispelled or become submerged.

There was a feeling then, for example, that Israel had lost the peace after winning the war and that the fault may have been Israel's for failing to make a gesture toward the Arabs. Few discuss that view any more.

Clash Expected

The belief then that another clash with the Arab states was becoming inevitable is even more widely and firmly held today, but with a resignation that expresses little concern.

The Israelis have made peace with themselves over many of the internal problems and disputes that developed from the war. They have settled down to a long occupation.

Many believe that prospects for peace have deteriorated in the last year, but the nation seems unified behind its premier, Mrs. Golda Meir, in resisting any solution other than one negotiated directly with the Arabs.

Israeli military leaders believe that their strategic position has never been better. Border fighting rarely goes beyond skirmishes and these remain indecisive tactically. The fighting, such as it is, is conducted far from Israeli population centers.

A major source of concern facing the nation a year ago, the postwar supply of fighter bombers, has been resolved. American-made Phantom jets will be arriving this year.

Casualties have become a major concern here, meanwhile, with nearly 300 postwar combat deaths. This toll is proportionately equal to the United States' in Vietnam.

Arabs Consider Peace As 'Wishful Thinking'

© New York Times Service

By Dana Adams Schmidt

Beirut, Lebanon — Few observers and officials here and in other Arab countries seriously believe that a peaceful settlement between Israel and the Arabs is in sight, and those who do are dismissed as dreamers or wishful thinkers by persons who consider themselves realists.

Experienced observers of the Middle East find it difficult to imagine that the present tension can grow much greater without leading to a large-scale Arab-Israeli war.

Some think that another war would backfire against the Arab regimes, whose inability to dislodge the Israelis from the Arab areas they occupied in the war of June, 1967, is becoming more apparent.

The heaviest burden is on the shoulders of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. He has been urging his peaople, as well as other Arabs, to show more patience, but his press and radio have been saying recently that time is running out.

The chief spokesman for the Egyptian government, Dr. Mohammed H. El-Zayyat, has said that the Egyptian leaders cannot for long stop the Egyptian armed forces from "liberating our occupied territory."

The Egyptian army is stronger than it was before the defeat two years ago, and Egyptian officers constantly ask political leaders visiting the Suez Canal front: "When are we going to cross canal?"

Whether or not the Egyptian army can win, it is being driven increasingly by the feeling, now spreading to the rest of the Arab world, that something must be done to force the Israelis out of the occupied territories.

In a recent speech, Nasser said the United Arab Republic might have to fight alone in the next showdown with Israel. And he came close to reprimanding the other Arab countries in his May day speech, saying that the eastern front still lacked coordination.

Strong Proof Of DDT Evil Said Lacking

Washington (AP) — There is no evidence that deadly chemical pesticides such as DDT have impaired the health of humans, but their future effects are uncertain, a team of scientists has told the Agriculture Department.

"Available evidence does not indicate that present levels of pesticide residues in man's food and environment produce an adverse effect on his health," the group reported.

But, its report added, "Knowledge is incomplete" on what eventually happens to the chemicals and the effects they may produce in the environment.

The report, released Wednesday, was requested by the department. It took a committee of the National Academy of Sciences — National Research Council 18 months to prepare.

Included was the prediction that "no decrease in the use of pesticides is expected in the foreseeable future" and that "on a world basis increased use is probable."

Postal Receipts, Pieces Of Mail Up During May

Postal receipts and originating pieces of mail both showed increases at the Lincoln Post Office during the period from May 3-30.

According to a monthly report, both postal receipts — $539,365 — and originating pieces — 11,106,894 — were up 6.7% from a similar period during 1968.

Teachers Get Into Scuffle On Playground

New York (AP) — Usually the teachers keep order and the kids get out of hand. But in Queens, the students behaved and three teachers went at it. One suffered a fractured nose in the scuffle.

Two physical education teachers and a French teacher at Richmond Hill High School filed cross complaints in criminal court and were released pending a hearing.

Police said Peter Gibbs, 30, of Greenlawn, and Thomas Connelly, 25, of Seaford, were supervising a gym class when Seymour Jacobs, 38, of Brooklyn, walked across the playground. Gibbs and Connelly said Jacobs broke school regulations by interfering with the class.

Episcopal Bishop Labels Reagan A 'War Monger'

Berkeley, Calif (AP) — The Episcopal bishop of California said Gov. Ronald Reagan is a "war monger" who has "unleashed the dogs of war in Berkeley."

Bishop C. Kilmer Myers, speaking at a chapel service at the Berkeley Pacific School of Religion, said the governor reacted to demonstrations over a "people's park" with "a full-scale military operation replete with strong-armed and brutal methods which I as a student observed in Germany in 1939."

In his speech, Myers said of reaction by police and the military: "The charge of violation of the law, both civil and moral, must be laid at their feet rather than at the feet of the helpless."

Packard Arrives For Japan Talks

Tokyo (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard arrived in Tokyo Wednesday for two days of talks with Japanese officials.

He is expected to discuss the return of Okinawa to Japan and the future status of U.S. military bases in Japan.

Airplane Stops In Omaha After Bomb Threats

Omaha Neb. (UPI) — A United Airlines DC8 jet with 105 passengers aboard made an unscheduled landing here Wednesday afternoon after two bomb threat phone calls were received by the airline in Chicago.

The jet was bound from Boston to San Francisco, with an intermediate stop at Chicago.

It was delayed here 1½ hours while agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and local police made a search, according to airline spokesman Ollie Willman.

The plane later continued on to San Francisco.

Martin Seeks $300,000 For Mid-State

Washington (AP) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., Wednesday sought $300,000 from the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works for the Mid-State Reclamation project in Nebraska.

That is $100,000 more than the amount budgeted for the project by the Nixon Administration.

Mid-State is a Bureau of Reclamation project covering 550,000 acres and intended to irrigate 140,000 acres in three large central Nebraska counties.

Martin told the committee the additional funds would insure early completion of engineering work.

If project funding is speeded up, engineering and planning could be completed within three years at a total cost of $1.5 million, Martin said.

An aide said a one mill tax levy, put into effect in 1958 when the project was first authorized, has raised $2 million for the project.

To Get Degree

Lynn J. Loudenback, assistant professor of marketing at the University of Nebraska for the past two years, will receive a doctoral degree in business administration from the University of Washington at Seattle June 14.
